Washington Feels 'Gas' Shortage

Some Stations Refuse Amounts Requested, Others Give Freely to Drivers

To Close Sundays

Some Areas Announce No Gasoline Sales on Sundays

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—Real or phony, the east's long-forecast gasoline shortage was pinching motorists today, with the nation's capital hit earliest and heaviest. Some Washington filling stations sold pleasure car drivers only half as much fuel as they ordered. Others put a limit of five gallons on individual sales; others went as low as three. Yet some establishments were complying without question when requested to "fill 'er up."

Ralph K. Davies, acting petroleum coordinator, renewed his denunciation of prophets who he said had "arisen to proclaim that there is no danger" and that "the warnings of an impending shortage are phony."

Diversion Termined Necessary

That diversion of vessels was necessary, government officials said, and they declared it reduced the flow of oil to the east from Gulf ports to such an extent that last week's curtailment order became necessary. Jobbers have been instructed to reduce their deliveries to filling stations 10 per cent below last month. Now some retailers are discovering that their August quota is nearly gone and that they must further restrict sales to individual customers.

Expanding on the government-ordered night curfew, a number of stations in the Washington and Philadelphia areas and elsewhere announced they would look up all day Sundays.

Washington filling station men in a meeting last night proposed that the government curtailment program, now affecting only the Atlantic seaboard, be extended to blanket the nation. Such a move, they said, would equalize matters and make possible delivery of more fuel to the east.

Night Force Closings

Nathan Gelfer, president of a New York city gasoline trade group, said 500 of the 7,000 stations in the metropolis might be forced to close soon for the remainder of August, because they had defied the night curfew order and exhausted their supply.

Might Force Closings

In contrast to the views of the petroleum coordinator's office, executives of some leading oil companies said eastern oil stocks appeared ample unless a greater share was needed for national defense purposes.

Syracuse, Aug. 22—How she plans three meals a day for an army of men will be explained by Miss Mary L. Barber, 51-year-old woman in Washington, at the New York State Fair, Wednesday, August 27th, at 10:30 a. m. in the Harriet M. Mills Building. Miss Barber knows her subject as she makes out U. S. army menus as food consultant in the office of production management. Through her work the boys in khaki have gained an average of a pound a day during their first four days in the induction centers.

Senator Opposes R.F.C. Credits for Russians

Connecticut Republican Danaher Says Soviet Resources Are Equal to U. S. and Loan Preposterous; Others Think Differently

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The question of a war loan for Russia produced a sharp division in legislative opinion today, and Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) demanded that congress be given full details before any credits are placed at Soviet disposal for the purchase of military supplies here.

Danaher called attention to the statement of Jesse Jones that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would be ready to make a cash loan to Russia for war purposes, if and when they needed it, assuming that the administration policy favored such assistance.

The Connecticut senator told reporters he thought it "preposterous" to ask American taxpayers to foot the bills when Russian resources are fully equal to our own.

Jones, the federal loan administrator, told his press conference Wednesday that no formal application for credits had been received from Russia, but some exploratory conversations had taken place.

New York Harbor Has Second Blaze Aboard Freighter

Finland Ship Is Damaged Badly; Seven More Are Found Dead in Fire at Brooklyn

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—A fire of mysterious origin aboard the war-stranded Finnish motorship freighter Aurora raged for five hours today, the second ship fire here within five days.

The first officer was suffocated as he slept on the 4,556-ton vessel at her Hudson river anchorage a mile north of the George Washington Bridge at 2:30 a. m. (E. S. T.). Other members of the crew of 18, including two waitresses, were rescued by police and private boats.

At the same time police announced six more deaths resulting from a $1,500,000 Brooklyn waterfront blaze of Monday in which the American freighter Panuco, her pier and several barges were destroyed or badly damaged. That brought the death toll for that fire to 26 and left seven men missing.

The Aurora, listing badly from the water in her holds, was ordered beached on the New Jersey shore near Englewood Cliffs.

Authorities said they had uncovered no evidence of sabotage in a preliminary investigation.

Carried Big Cargo

Loaded with a rich cargo of linseed oil, wool, hides, grains and other items from Buenos Aires, Curacao and Lagunaira, the Aurora put into New York July 28 because of Finland's entry into the war. Her operators said the job of trying to reach Helsinki through the British blockade was too risky.

Her crew was paid off yesterday and 18 returned to the ship last night after visits in Manhattan.

Capt. Albert Bjorklund suffered second degree burns of both hands when he fought his way through the rapidly-spreading flames to warn the waitresses—only to discover that they had escaped. The captain then jumped into the river and was picked up by a pleasure craft.

Naina Anderson, crewman, said he found the blaze in the ship's pantry at 3 a. m. and immediately went to the quarters of Ulla Grenman, 26, and Anni Gronstrom, 43, the waitresses, to awaken them.

Aroused by Benson, the crew of 20, failed in an effort to man the pumps and were taken out of the blazing vessel by river boatmen and police launches.

No Comment Made

Police notified the Federal Bureau of investigation at once but there was no immediate comment. Police were summoned to the fire by the motorman of a New York Central train who, seeing the blazing ship, blew his whistle so vigorously that patrol cars went to investigate.

Two fireboats, four police launches and several commandeer craft went out to the ship as she lay 1,000 yards off the New York shore. In addition, 10 radio patrol cars, two emergency squads and two ambulances were called out. The Coast Guard sent two vessels.

Four policemen were treated for smoke inhalation.

Ellenville Plant Damaged by Fire

Handkerchief Shop Blaze Blamed on Wiring

Machinery, equipment and finished and raw material of the handkerchief factory of Ephraim B. Lazarowitz, in the former Kuhfeld hotel building at 232 Canal street, Ellenville, were destroyed by fire which broke out about 7:45 o'clock this morning.

Companies of the Ellenville Fire Department answered the alarm at once and fought the blaze for an hour before it finally was brought under control.

F. D. R. Hits Byrd About Production

President Says Figures Given by Senator That Defense Lags Seriously

Says He's Misled Tanks and Guns Have Gone to British, Says Byrd Misinformed

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Sharply assailing figures cited by Senator Byrd (D. Va.), President Roosevelt asserted today that while American defense production never had been completely satisfactory, on the average it was up to estimates.

The Chief Executive told a press conference, and he volunteered the information, that he had heard and read a statement by Byrd earlier in the week in Washington which said defense production was lagging seriously. The President said he had asked the war department for a check and that it had showed Byrd was wrong in all categories but planes.

Somewhat Mr. Roosevelt said, the senator down the river on the figures.

The war department, the President said, told him it was most unfortunate that the senator's data were so inaccurate and that somebody had misled Byrd. Then Mr. Roosevelt became specific.

Hundreds of Tanks

Byrd declared, he said, that not a single tank had gone to England, actually, he asserted, we have turned over hundreds of tanks to the British, tanks of modern design produced in the last year. Some of these as is known, he said, have gone to Egypt and the papers have carried stories on the excellence of their performance.

On anti-aircraft guns, Mr. Roosevelt went on, the senator said the program provides for average monthly deliveries of only four 90-millimeter guns during the balance of this calendar year. The program actually calls, he said, for monthly deliveries of 61 for the four remaining months of 1941 and the war department believes that program will be met.

As for 37-millimeter anti-tank guns, Mr. Roosevelt said the senator had declared the production would be 15 a month, whereas the actual output was 72 in July and would be 160 in August, 260 in September and 320 in October.

There seems to be a certain discrepancy between the figure 15 and the war department figures and there would be, the President, remarked, even if a zero were added to the 15.

Furthermore, he continued, Byrd said only 15 81-millimeter mortars would be produced per month in the months immediately ahead. In July, he said, production was actually 221. In August the output will be 340, he said, and in September and October it will be even larger.

Plane Figures Correct

Byrd's figures on planes were substantially correct, Mr. Roosevelt said, adding in response to a question that the senator had used those of the office of production management.

The President said that some one should ask William S. Knudsen, O. P. M. director, about the matter, but that it was his recollection the July plane production was 1,465 compared with an earlier estimate of 1,500 for the month.

The President took exception to what he said was Byrd's contention that production of military planes had declined progressively in May, June and July. The number of training planes increased, Mr. Roosevelt said, and the production of military aircraft remained steady because of changes in design and the testing of new designs to meet lessons learned last spring.

But the fact remains, he said, that the senator's statement as a whole, in every single item except planes, was as full of discrepancies as those he had mentioned.

Engineer Is Killed

Pointville, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Michael J. Minnock, 70, retired stationary engineer, was killed last night by an automobile on the rifle range road on the outskirts of Fort Dix. Y., a civilian cook attached to the Eighth Station Hospital, Fort Dix.

Soviet Check Nazis Storming Toward Leningrad; Berlin Cites Staggering Red Losses

Germans Declare They Have Taken 1,250,000 Russian Prisoners in Campaign

Silent on Losses

Berlin Officials Give No Figures on Nazi Casualties

Berlin, Aug. 22 (AP)—A new report of staggering Russian losses, including more than 1,250,000 prisoners alone, was issued from Adolf Hitler's headquarters today as the invasion of Russia moved into its third month with the Wehrmacht holding a line about 300 miles deep into the Soviet from the Baltic to the Black Sea.

The communistic showed sharp rises in Red army captives and artillery pieces seized or destroyed in less than a month's time but a smaller ratio of gains in wrecked or captured tanks and warplanes.

These are the figures:

Announced	Today	Aug. 6	July 11
Prisoners Captured	1,250,000	895,000	400,000
Tanks Destroyed	14,000	12,145	7,615
Artillery Pieces Captured	15,000	10,588	4,432
Warplanes Destroyed or Captured	11,250	9,082	6,233

Some semi-official sources have figured that a roster of prisoners of such magnitude would indicate total Red army losses in dead, wounded and captured of about 5,000,000, but the high command did not go that far.

It still was silent on Germany's own losses, but it declared her armies and those of her allies were deep in Russia in "unbroken strength" while the Red army had suffered "casualties unimaginably high."

In language reflecting satisfaction with the achievements of the first two months, the communistic reported operations "in full progress on the entire front" and gave this broad outline of the situation.

"In the southern Ukraine, the opponents' last bases on the Dnieper are being eliminated according to plan with heaviest losses for the foe."

"Northwest of Kiev, the enemy is retreating beyond the Dnieper. In the region east of Gomel, pursuit of the defeated opponent is being continued."

"On every part of this long-drawn front the Germans claimed their armies were pressing forward in quest of new victories, threatening Leningrad in the north, aiming a spearhead at Moscow in the middle and besieging Odessa in the south."

German accounts of the push toward Leningrad pictured the city as in great danger of having its rail connections with Moscow severed by Nazi forces which the high command said yesterday had captured Novgorod 100 miles to the south.

Combined German and Finnish forces, meanwhile, were said to be advancing steadily on the city from the north.

German commentators declared that if the residents of Leningrad needed the appeal of Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, Red army northern commander, to fight to the last they would be inviting the same fate which Warsaw suffered.

Said one Nazi commentator ominously: "There once was a man called Smigly-Rydz who issued the same sort of proclamation. Everyone knows what happened."

(Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz was the commander-in-chief of the Polish army when the Germans invaded Poland September 1, 1939.)

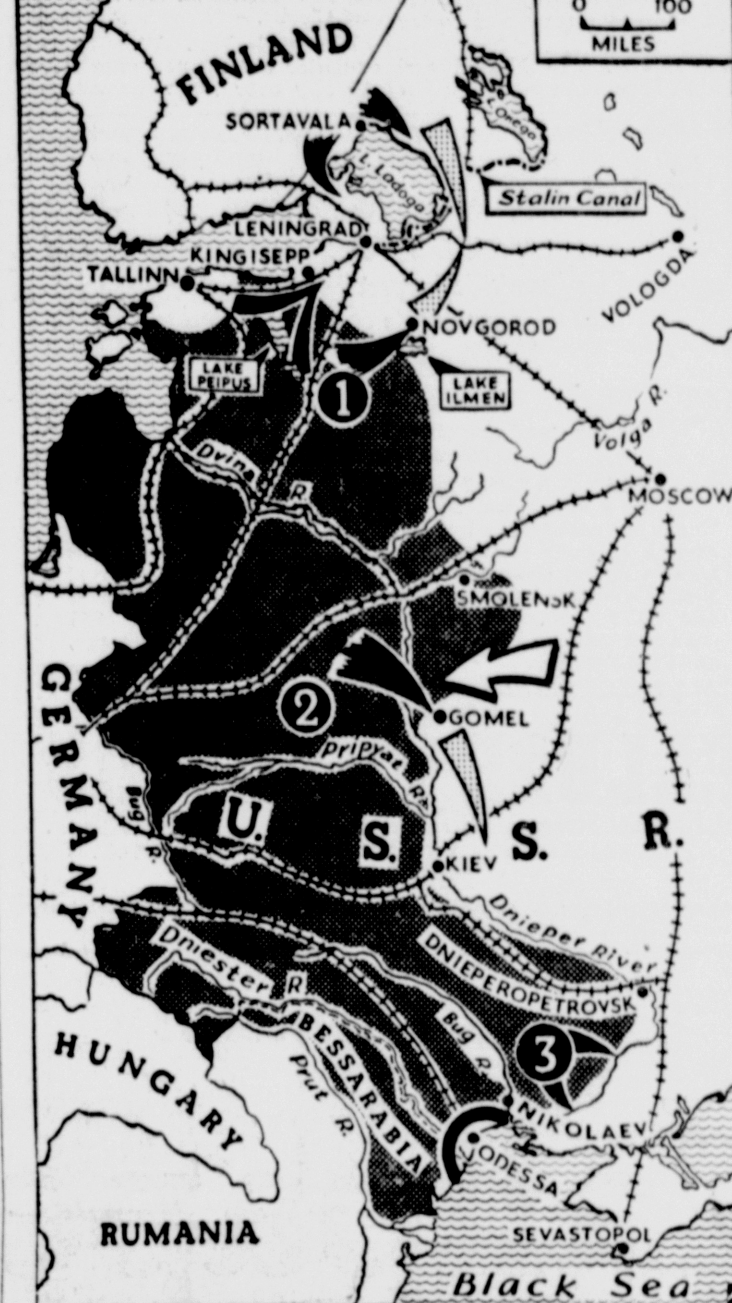

Dienst Aus Deutschland, authoritative commentary, suggested the Russians should declare Leningrad undefended, following the procedure of the French when Paris was threatened, and thus save the city from "a fire bath."

Menaces Communications

Just as the capture of Novgorod is threatening Russian railway communications in the north, so the German advance to Gomel in the central sector south of Moscow menaces communications between Moscow and Kiev, the Nazis said.

There was no indication as yet that the German armies in the (Continued on Page 19)

Nazis Claim New Soviet Defeat

Germans and Finns continued their thrusts (black wedges) from north and south against Leningrad (1) in a double pincer, one of frontal action, the other a wider movement aimed (dotted wedges) at city's supply lines. In center (2), Nazis claimed crushing defeat for Soviets in Gomel area, while Reds reported successful counterattacks. German thrust (black wedge) apparently was aimed (dotted wedge) at flanking new Red defense line on east bank of Dnieper. In south (3), Odessa was under full siege with Nazi troops attacking few remaining Russian Dnieper bridgeheads.

Russian War Shows Hitler Preparing Offensive Drives

Nazi Statements Not All Propaganda, but Some Are Intended as Morale Building.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

We cannot dismiss lightly as mere propaganda the statement of the German news agency that the Russian war is being fought to gain preconditions for the final struggle with Britain, since signs multiply that this is true.

Propaganda is doubtless is, and likely intended largely for home consumption. After all, things can't be too cheerful these days in Germany with an endless line of trains bearing wounded home from the bloodiest conflict in history, and the Frankfurt Zeitung urging people to postpone their vacations because "several hundred thousand hospital beds have been installed in numerous hotels and are not available for transients."

However, there are plenty of indications that Herr Hitler is getting (Continued on Page 14)

People's Army Forms to Save City From Nazis; Bitter Battle Is Raging

Bases Are Lost

Nazis Say Russians Lose Last Bases on Dnieper

(By The Associated Press)

Russian troops were reported checking German siege columns storming toward Leningrad today as thousands of the city's civilians volunteered for service in an "opolchenie" or people's army.

Dispatches from Moscow said Leningrad, the old czarist capital, was now a "formidable military camp" and that after four days of bitter fighting on the outer perimeter of Leningrad's defenses, the Germans appeared to have made no significant new progress.

A Tass (official Russian news agency) correspondent said the beleaguered city was echoing to the sounds of marching men through its broad squares and parks to join the "opolchenie," supporting the regular army at the front.

All through the night, a Soviet bulletin said, Red army troops battled in late summer rainstorms to check the main Nazi drives around Novgorod, 100 miles south of Leningrad, and Kingisepp, 70 miles to the southwest.

From the north, other German-Finnish forces were knifing down the Karelian isthmus, only 65 miles away.

Reporting operations "in full progress on the entire front," the German communistic declared: "In the southern Ukraine, the opponents' last bases on the Dnieper are being eliminated . . . with heaviest losses for the foe."

Authoritatives quarters in London announced at noon that "no operations have begun," but it was apparent they felt that British patience was reaching its limit. British and Russian troops were reported poised on Iran's frontier, ready to march.

As the Russo-German war entered its third month, with Hitler's wehrmacht overrunning a 300-mile-deep strip of Soviet territory and still advancing, the Russians acknowledged they had withdrawn from Gomel, on the central front, midway between Smolensk and Kiev.

However, the Soviets declared they had fallen back in a strategic maneuver to keep the Red Army intact, after inflicting bloody losses on the Germans, and said the fight was continuing in that area.

Withdrawal Is Made

On the Ukraine front, a Moscow communique indicated that Marshal Semeon Budenny's south-western armies still were executing a major withdrawal eastward across the Dnieper river, under flailing attack by the Luftwaffe.

News on the siege of Odessa, now reported isolated, was lacking. Latest German dispatches had pictured Soviet troops bottled up in the Black Sea port as undergoing a terrific assault from stuka dive-bombers and artillery, but there was still no claim of its surrender.

In the Far East crisis, Japan expressed anxiety lest American-made bombers sent to Russia might be kept at Vladivostok, Soviet Pacific port which the Japanese have termed a "northern Singapore" and a threat to their island empire.

Koh Ishii, Tokyo foreign office spokesman, said Japan hoped for United States assurances that any such planes would not remain at Vladivostok—thus leaving the clear implication that Japan would be less worried if the planes went on through Russia to the western front for use against the Germans.

Linked with this curious expression, since Japan is Germany's Axis partner, the Japanese cabinet adopted a new plan for mobilization of material resources designed to speed national defense preparations and make Japan self-sufficient.

Tokyo advices said the plan was (Continued on Page 14)

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Extraction

Philadelphia — Answering a knock on the door of a dental office, Technician Henry Pettit invited inside a man who held a handkerchief over his jaw and complained of a toothache.

The visitor soon lost his misery, however. Drawing a pistol, he tied and gagged Pettit with towels, took $15 from a cash drawer and fled.

Advice Taken

Champaign, Ill. — "Lady, you shouldn't park in the middle of the street," said one motorist to another.

"Mind your own business," she replied. And Policeman Lyle Jochim, in plain clothes, did just that. He gave the woman a ticket.

Poor Timing

Lacrosse, Wash. — A storm which visited Whitman county Wednesday brought (1) lightning that burned over 15,000 acres of wheat and pasture land (2) a near-cloudburst that washed the topsoil off hundreds of acres of plowed farm land.

The weather phenomena occurred simultaneously, separated by a half-mile.

Deep, Dark Mystery

Kansas City — Mrs. H. E. Shikles summoned police when she stepped on a manhole cover and it talked.

Officers lifted the lid and hauled out three boys, scared and muddy but unhurt. The young explorers had been lost two hours in a maze of storm sewers.

Record Ruined

Springfield, Ill. — For months officers drove the police department's safety patrol car without so much as a pin scratch marring its lily white surface. To keep that record intact, they always parked it in the city's safest place—the police station basement.

So, Officer Francis Scott's indignation was understandable when he went to the basement and found the car badly smashed. A hit-run motorist had backed into it.

Roosevelt Orders Tariff Increase Upon Crab Meat

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt ordered today a 50 per cent increase in the tariff on imported crab meat, of which Japan is the chief source of supply.

This action was taken in a proclamation declaring that the duties on imported crab meat shall be raised from 15 to 22½ per cent ad valorem.

The proclamation said the increase was necessary to equalize a difference in costs of production between Japan and the United States which was determined by an investigation by the tariff commission.

The increase applies to crab meat, prepared or preserved in any manner, including crab paste and crab sauce, packed in airtight containers.

While the proclamation was an innocent-looking document on its surface, it constituted a link in a chain of economic measures taken by the United States government after Japan moved into air and naval bases in southern French Indo-China.

The most far-reaching step was the freezing of Japanese credits in this country and the imposition of a form of export control. But observers noted that fishing is a primary occupation of the Japanese and that crab meat has been an important export.

12 Defense Workers Are Adrift in Pacific

San Pedro, Calif., Aug. 22 (AP)—Twelve defense workers, who had anticipated a gay time in Honolulu, are being blown about the Pacific on a powerless, rudderless dredge by a gale.

The dredge, a $500,000, 1,000-ton craft owned by the Standard Dredging Co. of New York, was torn from its towing steamer, the S. S. Chipewa, at 1 a. m. (4 a. m. E. S. T.) yesterday. Its position then was given as 1,240 miles due east of Honolulu. It was en route to Honolulu for use on a navy project.

Capt. John Allison of the Chipewa radioed an appeal to "rush a navy tug from coast and one from Honolulu."

Night Conferences Bring No Pacts at Kearny or Detroit

President Tells Press That Government Does Not Want to Take Over Shipyards

(By The Associated Press)

Unyielding deadlocks today prolonged the nation's two most pressing strikes, at the Kearny, N. J., shipyards and in Detroit's municipal transit system.

Night conferences in both the cases ended without the slightest indication of agreement between strikers and management.

For the 16th day the sprawling Kearny yards of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company remained idle. Eighteen thousand men stayed at home or lounged about the town's construction site, a standstill on two cruisers, six destroyers and a group of merchant ships.

John Green, president of the striking C.I.O. industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers, and L. H. Korndorff, company president, conferred at Washington yesterday with President Roosevelt. At his suggestion, the union leader, the company official and other negotiators met for hours last night, but to no effect.

Doesn't Want Yards

At Hyde Park President Roosevelt told a press conference today that the government did not want to take over the strike-bound plant of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company at Kearny, N. J., if it could be helped.

He said he did not know and could not guess whether the government could avoid moving into the plant, in which construction of $43,000,000 in defense shipping has been tied up since August 7 by a strike of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers (C.I.O.).

Conferences are still going on looking to adjustment of differences between company and employees. Mr. Roosevelt said, and he expects to receive a telephone call from both sides in the course of the day.

Green said the company remained "adamant" in opposing the strikers' demand for a maintenance-of-union-membership agreement, as was recommended by the National Mediation Board recently. Under such a clause, present or future members of the union would have to maintain good standing in the union as a requisite of continued employment.

Korndorff said he did not care to make any statement on the situation. Earlier he had declared that the union was demanding, in effect, a closed shop, and rather than agree to that, he offered to turn the yard over to the navy for operation.

Green reported that Mr. Roosevelt said he did not want the government to take over the yard if it could be avoided. No arrangements were made for further union-management conferences when last night's meeting broke up.

The union president declared "the same promptness should be used to put the men back to work at Kearny as was used to put the men back to work at the North American Aviation Company." In that California strike, earlier in the year, the government sent troops into the plane factory, took over production and the strike was settled in short order.

Strike Enters Third Day

The Detroit transit strike, caused by a jurisdictional dispute between rival A.F.L. and C.I.O. unions, went into its third day, and Detroiters again were forced to take pot luck in getting to and from their jobs. Though all the municipal buses and street cars were withdrawn from service, the city's streets were clogged by slow-moving rivers of private cars.

Mayor Edward J. Jeffries, who last night described himself as "tired, hungry and mad," arranged a new series of conferences today.

with the A.F.L. union which called the strike, and the C.I.O. group which opposed the A.F.L. demand for exclusive bargaining rights, exclusive use of bulletin boards, and exclusive checkoff privileges.

Labor unrest continued in other sections of the nation.

Two men were killed yesterday in the coal fields of Harlan county, Kentucky, as gunfire volleyed at the scene of a long-standing dispute between A.F.L. and C.I.O. unions claiming representational rights. The assailants were unknown. Twenty-eight highway patrolmen were ordered on duty in the region.

First Strike in 302 Years

Guilford, Connecticut, was experiencing its first strike in 302 years. Eighty employees of the New Haven Clock Company walked out, following the lead of 1,400 employees of the firm at New Haven. The National Labor Relations Board has ordered a collective bargaining election within 30 days to determine whether the C.I.O. Clock Workers Union may represent all employees.

The Defense Mediation Board yesterday urged that production be resumed at the Bessemer, Alabama, plant of the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Company, where a C.I.O. union and two A.F.L. groups are involved in a dispute over collective bargaining.

C.I.O. steel workers at Worcester, Massachusetts, voted last night to return to work at the Leland-Gifford Company, producers of aircraft crankshafts, ending a walkout which began Aug. ust 11. The U. S. Conciliation Service arranged for a conference between representatives of the union and the company at Washington Tuesday. The men struck because they said eight employees were discharged for union activity.

Most of the 85,000 dress workers in New York city will receive 10 per cent wage increases as a result of successful employer-employee negotiations. The agreement, worked out by an A.F.L. union and the affiliated dress manufacturers, provided for compensation for rising living costs.

Transfer Slated

The War Department today announced that Major General Clement A. Trott would be relieved from command of the Fifth Corps Area at Fort Hayes, O., effective September 30, and assigned to duty at Chicago Ill. Lieutenant General Daniel Van Voorhis had previously been designated to succeed General Trott in command of the Fifth Corps Area. General Voorhis has been in command of the Caribbean Defense Command and of the Panama Canal Department, Quarry Heights, Canal Zone. General Trott will reach the statutory retirement age next December.

Parents are requested to register their children Monday morning in order that they will not be retarded in class work.

Watch Is 'Baitfish' In Dead Weakfish

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Alex Novak was cleaning a two-and-a-half-pound weakfish yesterday in the fish department of a local food store when his knife struck a hard object.

Probing further, he extracted a gold watch and chain. Its case battered and hands bent, the timepiece was running and continued running today as a prize exhibit at the store. On the dial was engraved "Jim Clark" and on the reverse, "A M A."

Two Still Alarms

Kingston's fire department responded to two still alarms of fire early this morning. The first was at 3:47 o'clock when the bell on the sprinkler system in the Fessenden shirt factory on Field Court began ringing when the bell was out of adjustment. There was no fire damage. A bale of sweepings on the elevator of the Kingston knitting mill on Cornell street, at Ten Broeck avenue, caught fire this morning on the elevator. The firemen were called and used water and chemicals to extinguish the fire and then rolled the bale off the elevator and cut of the building.

Roosevelt Directs 18-Month Service For Bulk of Army

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—Implementing the selective service extension act, President Roosevelt directed in an executive order today that the term of service be extended 18 months for selectees, reservists, National Guardsmen and enlisted personnel in the army.

The order was more or less a formality required under the extension act.

It provided that despite the extension, persons who have served for 12 months may be released as the interests of national defense permit.

Selectees, the order said, may be transferred to the reserves, after a year's service, "with a view to the early creation of a large trained reserve, while at the same time, maintaining the army in immediate readiness for use in the defense of the nation."

Reservists now on active duty would be let out after a year, when they could be spared, under such regulations as the Secretary of War might prescribe, and a like procedure would be followed for enlisted men of the regular army.

About 8,538,000 men lost their lives in the World War.

Dr. Gregory Tells Kiwanians About Polynesian Travel

Dr. William K. Gregory, curator of the department of comparative anatomy in the American Museum of Natural History, New York city and also connected with the department of fish in the museum, was the guest speaker at the meeting of Kiwanis Thursday noon.

Dr. Gregory, whose summer home is at Woodstock, gave a showing of highly entertaining colored films, depicting features of Maori life and scenery in New Zealand and fishing scenes off the coast, in which the giant marlin were being taken by hook and line.

Several fishing scenes were shown, in one of which a marlin which weighed 708 pounds was hooked and landed safely aboard the fishing boat.

The pictures were taken on the Michael Lerner Expedition to Australia and New Zealand, which left this country in December, 1938 and returned in July of the next year, obtaining specimens and data for the museum.

Dr. Gregory, who was a member of the expedition, spoke interestingly of the settlement of New Zealand by the Maoris, a Polynesian people who came to that country somewhere around the year 1350, and were once inveterate cannibals. Maori war dances and others were among the pictures shown.

Guests at Kiwanis Thursday included P. E. Crispell of Buffalo, and L. P. Crispell of Batavia, father and son and both prominent Kiwanians; also Howard Krausche of Plainfield, N. J.

Boisterous Gaiety Is Absent And Beer Tastes Like Fog

As for Icelandic Girls They're Not Too Friendly With Forces of Occupation; Those Who Are Lose Their Tresses

By TOM HORGAN

Reykjavik, Iceland, Aug. 12 (P)—(Delayed)—American forces assigned to this amazing land of ice and fire may purchase for $2.50 a paper-covered, illustrated guide book which contains no truer or more significant advice than the following:

"It must be stated that those who seek a life of boisterous gaiety and attach importance to bodily comforts, have at present little reason to come to Iceland."

The cost of the booklet, which would bring about 50 cents in the United States, should prepare the purchaser for almost any future transaction.

Of boisterous gaiety, there is none. The capital's leading hostelry, Hotel Borg, holds the only liquor license, and spirits are sold only to patrons who purchase a full meal, and then in strictly limited quantities between the hours of noon and 2:30 p. m., and in the evening between 7 and 11 o'clock.

Beer Tastes Like Fog

Domestically brewed beer is sold freely, but even residents claim for it only one per cent alcoholic content, and it has much the same flavor, aroma and potency as the Icelandic fogs which come rolling in from the sea without notice.

The closest approach to merriment may be found at the Borg in the evening, when a three-piece orchestra furnishes dance music, thus disclosing a distinctive Icelandic custom. Groups of unescorted young women arrive shortly after the dinner hour. Some have hair the color of new Manila cordage; a few are as raven-haired and gray-blue eyed as any Irish colleen, a reminder that more than 20 per cent of Icelandic blood can be traced to the Emerald Isle.

The girls come to the hotel frankly eager to dance with the American and British officers, but they firmly decline to sit at the same table with their dancing partners or to accept refreshments.

'I'm Very Sorry'

Conversation while dancing usually is confined, in excellent English, to, "I am very sorry, but I do not understand English."

The Borg, and one other hotel, have been declared by military authorities out-of-bounds for enlisted men, but they probably would not be disposed to pay hotel prices anyhow—$1 for a double Scotch about the size of a single portion at home. The law limits each patron to three double scotches.

In more than a week, this correspondent did not see a single man, American or British, with a girl companion. Common gossip has it that as punishment for associating with British soldiers, the flaxen tresses of several Icelandic maidens were shorn close by indignant countrymen.

However that may be, Iceland women are far more independent than their sex in most countries. Divorces are not only easily obtained but common, and they and illegitimacy are not frowned upon with great severity. Some of the descendants of the bold vikings now come to the police station with literally tearful complaints when the affections of their womenfolk stray to the uniformed visitors.

Residents of rural sections, according to Americans who have been stationed here some time, are more cordial than city dwellers and soon there should be a new version of the marine and the farmer's daughter—hinkey, dinkie, parley voo.

Placements in Metal Trades Up 19 Per Cent

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22—The New York State Employment Service filled a total of 1,518 jobs in metal trades occupations in New York city during the month of June, marking a 19 per cent increase from May, according to a statement made yesterday by Milton O. Loysen, executive director of the division of placement and unemployment insurance. This was the fourth consecutive month in which placements in metal trades occupations have increased in New York city.

Mr. Loysen added that it was also the first month since November, 1940 that the area outside of New York city had shown a decrease in metal trades placements compared with the previous month. Also, for the first time since November, metal trades placements in New York city exceeded those in the remainder of the state.

A substantial share of the increase was due to gains in skilled and semi-skilled occupations in the manufacture of clocks, watches, jewelry and articles of precious metals. Good gains were reported for skilled machinists with 211 in June as compared with 153 in May, and semi-skilled metal filers, grinders, buffers, and polishers, with 114 in June and 43 in May. Machine shop and related occupations with 410 positions filled continued as the group with the greatest number of placements.

Although the 1,415 placements in metal trades occupations in the remainder of the state were only 114 less than in May, the decrease may be significant, Mr. Loysen said, since it is the first interruption in the upward trend of such placements since last November. A possible reason for the decline in placements is the stringency of the labor supply, which has been growing smaller as the defense program has expanded. Rather large declines occurred in the skilled machine shop and related occupations and tinsmiths, coppersmiths, and sheet metal workers although these occupations still comprise a sizeable proportion of total metal trades placements.

Compared with June 1940, placements in metal trades occupations throughout the state rose from 805 to 2,963, an advance of 368 per cent. Mr. Loysen called attention to the fact that placements in the unskilled metal trades occupations jumped from 33 in June 1940 to 648 in June 1941, while placements in semiskilled occupations rose from 178 to 922 and in skilled occupations from 594 to 1,393. The far more rapid increase among the lower skill levels is further evidence of the growing shortage of skilled help and the resultant hiring of persons with little or no skill.

Placement figures for June pointed to some relaxation of employer specifications with respect to the hiring of women. Positions filled by women in metal trades occupations increased 50 per cent from May to June in New York city and 83 per cent in the remainder of the state. Placements in occupation in the manufacture of clocks, watches, jewelry, and articles of precious metals continued to constitute a large share of the metal trades placements of women in New York city. Mr. Loysen pointed out that gains in skilled and semi-skilled machine shop and related occupations and occupations in the mechanical treatment of metals were particularly noteworthy in their implications of the types of occupations in which women might be placed.

She was a painter in water colors and was rather proud of her work; also her complexion was the envy of her acquaintances.

At a dinner party one night she sat next to a shy, awkward young man, who cudgeled his brains to find something to say. She tried to open conversation with him. With becoming modesty she said: "She—I expect you have heard that I paint?"

He—Yes, but I don't believe it!

When a woman is cornered and doesn't know what to say she makes a noise like a laugh.

He—I have ordered the ring, dear. What would you like to have engraved on it? (She is publisher's daughter)—Well, "all rights reserved," I think would be rather nice.

Chased by a Smile
Smiles may be weary. Life may be blue.
Body be weary. Soul weary too.
Don't be discouraged, smile all the while.
All will be over, chased by a smile.
Friends may forsake you; No one to care.
You may be driven nigh to despair.
Keep up your courage, Smile all the while.
All will be happy, chased by a smile.

Doctor—How do you feel?
Seamstress—Oh, sew, sew; but I seem worse today, and have stitches in my side.
The doctor hemmed and told her she would mend soon.

Get-rich-quick schemes are short cuts to disaster.

Man—If there is one thing that I enjoy more than another, it is to get to the river and lie about fishing.
Wife—Why, I fail to see the necessity for your going to the banks of the river to do that.

An old saying by Mark Twain, always worth reprinting:
Always do right. This will gratify some people and astonish the rest!

Two men were fishing but could not get a bite. Then a little boy came along and began fishing. He pulled out a 12-inch fish but threw it back.

Man—Having a bit of luck, mate?
Then the boy caught an 18-inch fish and also threw this back into the water.

Man—Lummy, why are you throwing 'em back?
Boy—Well, we've only got a six-inch frying pan.

Democracy is not a form of government, it is an exaltation of character which finds its final expression in a form of government. It was because we had the independence, initiative, industry and sacrificial spirit to subdue a continent and to make it bring forth and blossom, that we were able to govern ourselves!

Dad—Why are you and your little sister always quarreling?
Daughter—I don't know; unless she takes after mother and I take after you.

Prosperity—Everyone wants to be as prosperous as possible in this world. But prosperity isn't just an accident. It never arrives of its own accord. It is built on the initiative and enterprise of individuals, upon integrity, thrift, and plenty of hard work.

Country Constable—Pardon, miss, but swimming is not allowed in this lake.
City Flapper—Why didn't you tell me before I undressed?

Country Constable—Well, there ain't no law against undressing.

A Laughing Matter

Tommy Riggs' Favorite Story

A little girl, who closely resembles my own talkative Betty Lou, was so garrulous during class that she became the despair of her teacher. They tried various punishments, but she still spouted away unrestrained.

The principal decided finally to take drastic action. On the child's report card to the father he penned these significant words:

"Your daughter talks a great deal."

The next day the principal received the report card which was properly signed. However, emblazoned on the back in red crayon, was the comment:
"You ought to hear her mother."

Chapter 23

Housebreakers

JEFF smiled fetchingly at the woman. "Oh," he said, "I didn't know Mr. Ashley had a wife."

"I didn't either," said the woman.

"Are you his sister, then?"

"Hell, no! I ain't related. I wouldn't be! My name's Baumer. You must've rang the wrong bell."

Jeff snapped his fingers in disgust. "Yeah, I must have. What a dope!"

"That's okay. Ashley lives on the top floor." She inspected me over Jeff's shoulder.

I knew Philip's door when I saw it. There was a knocker on it shaped like a tiny black cat. Jeff marched right past it and started climbing another flight of steps, steep and narrow. Panting, I followed him. He pushed open a door at the top of the stairs and pulled me through it after him.

We stood in the shadow of a chimney on the gravel roof.

"Jeff!" I wheezed. "What are we doing here?"

He moved to the edge of the roof and looked down. "We're using the fire escape. That would be it and that would be Ashley's window. C'mon."

"Jeff, you can't! You get ten years for that!"

"Not if you catch a murderer."

"But somebody will call the police! Or take a shot at us!"

"Who?" We looked around over the adjoining roofs. There was no one in sight but a little boy with big unhappy blue eyes. He was leaning on the parapet across the shaftway. In his hands was an enormous homemade kite. He was waiting for some wind. "Hey, Kid," Jeff said, pointing to the fire escape, "is this the way to Perry Street?"

"I don't know," the little boy said.

"He'll tell his mother on us, Jeff, and . . ."

"My mother isn't home!"

"See, Haila, let's go!"

I didn't feel quite like it. "Jeff, the window won't be open."

"It would be if you hadn't said that!"

I eased myself down the iron steps gingerly after Jeff, until we stood on the balcony outside Ashley's window. Jeff put his hands against the pane and turned his head to me. "Cross all your fingers, Haila," I did. Jeff pressed upward; nothing happened.

"Damn!" Jeff said.

"The little boy said helpfully, 'The next one to it is open.'"

We looked and he was right, but it wasn't on the fire escape. The sill was a good three feet from the rail of the fire escape.

"No, Jeff!" I said. "You'll kill yourself!"

"Don't be a sissy!" the little boy shouted.

Jeff grinned at me. "See, I got to."

He managed it very easily. That made me the sissy. Jeff opened the window on the fire escape and helped me in.

Ashley's apartment was a large sized edition of his dressing room, as scrupulously clean and astonishingly neat, considering the amount of knickknacks he had amassed and assiduously arranged. Every square inch of flat surface was buried under tiny figurines in terra cotta and ivory, china, animals, mostly cats, little snow scenes in crystal balls, cactus plants in hand-painted pots and an assortment of ash trays and cigarette boxes that ran the gamut.

"Snooping Again!"

I stood there staring about me helplessly. I looked at Jeff; he was smiling and shaking his head. "The government should plow this room under."

"Find what you want and let's get out of here, Jeff. I'm nervous."

"As a cat?"

"Please, Jeff!" I went to the window and looked down Perry Street. Jeff started opening drawers. I thought I might as well cooperate. I opened a door; it was a closet kitchenette. I went into the bathroom, a tiny almost infinitesimal room, with dubonnet and white monogrammed towels hung tidily over the tub. Between it and the lavatory was wedged a red bathroom scale.

In the medicine cabinet, nestling behind a bottle of Listerine, I found three white tablets, the size of aspirin. "Jeff!" I called. When he stuck his head in the door, I held out a tablet to him. "Look!"

"Yeah?"

"They're the same as I found in his dressing room!"

"I don't want them." He was examining some kind of electric vibrating contraption with avid interest.

"Don't be stupid, Jeff, we'll have them analyzed. They may be morphine!"

I couldn't talk. I would have given anything to have been in a concentration camp; any place some place else.

"Ashley, I dragged Haila into this," Jeff said. "I'm the snooper and I'm sorry."

"Sorry! Don't be ridiculous!"

"I'm trying to solve a murder; that partly justifies my intrusion. You've been holding out on me; that completes the justification. And on top of that, I apologize. Do you forgive me and can we be friends and have a little chat?"

"How charming you are, Mr. Troy!" Philip sneered. "How did you get in here? Did that fool janitor . . ."

"We didn't see any janitor. We crawled up through the plumbing." Jeff sat down on the arm of a chair and pulled a pack of cigarettes out of his pocket. Ashley opened the door.

"Now, if you don't mind, please leave." I started toward the door, but Jeff stopped me. Ashley glared at us; he was shaking. So was I. I wanted to run. But Jeff still hadn't moved from his chair.

"Ashley, where were you born? Was it London?"

"Portsmouth? Hmm. Is that near Salt Lake City?"

"What are you driving about?"

"About where you were born. And reared. Did you know a family named Young? The Brigham Youngs?"

"Please stop trying to be funny!"

"Or a family named Blanton? There was a daughter, Carol Blanton?"

"Oh, so that's it!"

"Yes," said Jeff. "So you better answer my questions. I'll be more open-minded than Peterson."

"I doubt that! But, yes, I was born in Salt Lake City. I adopted England as my native land for purely professional reasons. It was advantageous."

"We know about that."

"You seem to know a great deal. But I left Salt Lake City when I was eighteen . . . before Carol Blanton was born. And I've never been back since. Now get out of here! I won't stoop to talk to a pair of sneak thieves who pretend they're trying to solve a murder and . . ."

The Ashley Secret
I COULDN'T keep quiet any longer. I thrust the three white tablets I had found in the bathroom before Ashley's eyes.

"What about these? You're going to be very embarrassed, Mr. Ashley, if they turn out to be morphine! And what about your own sneaky tactics? Ducking us and pussy-footing around Radio City?"

"For the last time, get out of here!" Ashley's face was ugly. Instinctively, I stepped behind Jeff.

"If Mr. Ashley won't talk, Haila, I will. I know the answer to the mysterious mission at Radio City. And the tablets."

Ashley clenched his fists and started toward Jeff who glided around in back of me and spoke to Philip over my shoulder.

"The answer is strictly glandular. Fat! Obesity! That middle-aged spread! Philip wilted and looked as if he were about to burst into tears. "An actor must keep that schoolgirl figure. Those are reducing tablets. In Radio City, on the same floor as Vincent Parker, is the emporium of Madame Somebody, Corsetiere. In the bathroom, note the scales, the reducing machine. In that closet is a giraffe for every day of the week. No wonder our friend raised a rumpus when you borrowed his tablets at the theater. You might have discovered what they were and ruined his glamour."

A small "Oh!" was all I could manage.

"It's nothing to be ashamed of, Ashley."

"You son . . ." Ashley started to say.

"Uh-uh!" Jeff wagged a finger at him. Ashley turned his back and stamped to the window. I caught Jeff's eye and motioned toward the door. I wanted to get out of there.

"Ashley," Jeff said, "you shouldn't let your pride make suspicious people like Haila think you're a murderer."

He pivoted around to Jeff. His voice was loud with righteous anger. He was his old pompous self. "Now are you satisfied? Now, will you leave before I have you thrown out by the police? I won't touch you; you nauseate me!"

"We'll go in a second. Quietly," Jeff said. "As soon as you explain this." He held out a small slip of paper.

"What's that? Where did you find that?"

"In your desk."

Ashley whitened. "You've been in my desk? How contemptible of you!"

Jeff read from the paper: "I.O.U. five hundred dollars. Signed Carol Blanton. How do you account for that, Ashley?"

Ashley looked uncertain for a second, then gave a little deprecating laugh. He went to one of his porcelain boxes and got himself a cigarette.

"Oh, that," he said. "I must tell you about that."

"Yes, you must," Jeff said.

can't get new soil, improve the old by working in some organic matter, such as well-rotted manure or peat moss. Peat moss is better because the manure will probably contain some weed seeds.

Before the top soil is added, or the organic matter mixed in, some phosphate or potash fertilizer should be broadcast on the lawn. Ten pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate mixed with one pound of muriate of potash is used for each 1,000 square feet of lawn area.

Professor Bushey says more information, including lawn-seed mixtures, is given in Cornell bulletin E-429 entitled "New Lawns." Single copies, free to New York residents, may be had from the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Big Regatta Field Day Due; Recs Play Fuller Brush Tonight

Local Spokesman Says at Least 80 Boats Will Appear

Service Runabouts to Start Fourth Annual Regatta on Rondout Creek Next Sunday Afternoon

Everything is practically in readiness for Sunday afternoon's fourth annual Rondout Creek Regatta which is sponsored by the Kingston Power Boat Association. The first race is scheduled for 1 o'clock.

So far about 33 entries have been received by local boat officials but this number is expected to soar greatly before Sunday afternoon when the flying shingles begin their battling on the Rondout Creek.

In 1939 the regatta really started to click when 40 drivers appeared on the scene. Last year the biggest field since its organization responded to the call by the Power Boat Association when 83 boats were ready for the starting gun. According to Joe Huber, member of the local club, at least 80 boats are expected again this year.

Girl Driver Expected
Extended efforts are being made by the Kingston Power Boat Association to bring out Kuhn of Long Island, ace girl driver, to this city for the boat races. Sunday afternoon, Miss Kuhn drove in the Albany to New York marathon this year and should prove a big favorite here under the banners of the local association.

Emil Mayer of College Point, L. I., who won the City of Kingston trophy as well as the Jack Feyer award last year, again will be in action Sunday. Mayer has proven his ability in past performances and he stands out as a real threat to all veterans and newcomers in the regatta.

At 1 o'clock, at which time the runabout division will start the regatta, Long Island will have at least a dozen runabouts in action. Two heats will be run of service runabouts. In all former years the runabouts have started the regatta off in a blaze of glory and local officials opine that the starting event this year will be the same this year.

Other well-known and much respected drivers ready for Sunday's grueling battle are Gene Nichols, Menards, Jack Schoolcraft of Schenectady, George Van Voorhes of Fishkill, the White Brothers of Poughkeepsie and many others. It is expected that the entire list of drivers, as is known to date, will be released Saturday.

Van Voorhes has compiled an impressive list of victories in Class B competition this year and points to another success here Sunday. Recently at Valley Stream, Conn., and Canada, the Fishkill driver won both heats of Class B to win a large trophy and a sum of money. "Van" is another well-liked driver by local followers and he, too, shapes up as a man to watch when the going gets tough Sunday afternoon.

Many of Kingston's sports followers will be on hand Sunday to officiate. The Hon. Harry E. Schirick and Alderman-at-Large John Schwenk will head the judges which include other honorary officials. The chairman of the acting judges is Jack Feyer, who has donated a trophy again. Jack will be assisted by Charles Beetzger, senior inspector of building in the United States Navy. Mayor Conrad J. Heiselmar, Frank Storms, Ed Coughlin and William Lunney.

Poughkeepsie Loses 2nd Straight in Legion Tourney

Manchester, N. H., Club Eliminates Bridge City Aggregation by 5 to 4 Count

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 22 (AP)—The favored Gastonia, N. C., team will play Flint, Mich., tonight in the American Legion junior sectional baseball tournament. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was eliminated from the competition last night when it was beaten by Manchester, N. H., 5 to 2. It was the second defeat in the double eliminations tournament for the New Yorkers, Flint having toppled them in the opening round.

More Winners at Fair

In the list of awards in the horse class at the fair Wednesday the class for brood mares with colts was omitted. Winners in this class were Babcock Farm 1, Canon's Ranch 2, Harry Beatty 3, Babcock Farm 4. In the class for saddle horses 13 and under 14.2, winners of fourth place was DeWitt Day.

Football Powers in Every Section Start Season Under Strange Tutors

By DILLON GRAHAM
Sports Editor, (P) Feature Service
New York—Football coaches, accustomed to frequent journeys during the fall, did a lot of off-season traveling this year—hot-footing it to new jobs.

Seldom has there been such a large turnover of gridiron mentors. Transfer signals were flashed from Maine to California. Every major college conference was affected. The list of teams with new tutors reads like a who's who of football—Notre Dame, Southern California, Army, Yale, Ohio State, Boston College, Tennessee.

With the 1941 kick-off almost at hand, a survey reveals 40 odd coaches appearing on new campuses.

Here's the revamped line-up:
EAST: Frank Leahy, whose Boston College team was unbeaten and victor over Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl game, accepted an offer from his alma mater, Notre Dame. To succeed Leahy, B. C. selected Denny Myers, a former Brown and Yale line coach.

The Army, after a particularly poor season, found a more strictly military assignment for Capt. Bill Wood and persuaded Earl Blaik, a former West Point assistant, to leave Dartmouth and return to the cadets. Dartmouth beckoned to Tuss McLaughry. J. Neil

Yale, after losing seven of eight games, said goodbye to Raymond (Ducky) Pond and appointed Emerson Nelson, an Ell aide, as head coach. Pond caught on at Bates College. After 20 years on the coaching lines Fred Brice resigned at Maine and Eck Allen took over. Wes Fesler, Harvard assistant, accepted a call from Wesleyan.

Forest Evanshewski, Michigan's famous blocking back for Tom Harmon, entered the coaching ranks at Hamilton College. Other new gridiron professors included Alfred C. Werner at Allegheny, Alured (Slim) Ransome, Geneva; Pete Stevens, Ursinus; and Stuart (Stu) Holcomb, Washington and Jefferson. Art Lawrence became Union college coach. Dutch Bergman left Catholic University.

MIDDLE WEST: Bidding farewell to the veteran Francis Schmidt, Ohio State brought a real rookie into the tough Western conference competition when Paul Brown, who compiled a fine record at Massillon, Ohio, high school, but who has had no college experience, took over.

Notre Dame permitted Elmer Layden to leave to become commissioner of the National Professional football league and named Leahy. Tom Stidham of Oklahoma followed Paddy Driscoll at Marquette and Oklahoma a named Dewey Luster, a Sooner assistant, as its top man. West-erna Reserve chose Tom Davies and Pot-ter Clark, former Detroit Lions pro coach, went to Grand Rapids university.

SOUTHWEST: Morley Jennings resigned at Baylor and was followed by Frank Kimbrough of Hardin-Simmons. Warren B. Woodson took Kimbrough's Hardin-Simmons post. Jennings became athletic director at Texas Tech, where Del Morgan succeeds the departed Pete Cawthon as head coach.

Tulsa Takes Frnk

The Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals have struggled all season without proving anything important, and nothing that can happen during the remainder of the week is going to change this record.

The two rivals for the National League pennant simply are marking time for the opening of their vital four-game series Sunday at Brooklyn. This marking time yesterday took the form of both teams losing and thus maintaining the 1½ game margin which separates the Dodgers in first place from the Cardinals in second.

Manager Leo Durocher has been trying to line up his pitching staff for the Cardinal series. He started Kirby Higbe out of turn Wednesday against Pittsburgh in order to have him ready for Sunday. Higbe was knocked out, but the Dodgers won anyway.

Yesterday Durocher decided to rest Whitlow Wyatt for one of Sunday's two games. So he started Luke Hamlin against the sixth-place Chicago Cubs. This decision proved more disastrous as the Cubs cruised to a 6-2 victory, ending a six-game Brooklyn winning streak.

Hamlin gave two runs in the first two innings and then Mace Brown, loaded the bases with none out in the third. Durocher rushed Wyatt onto the scene for his first relief job of the season. The lean right-hander gave the Cubs their opener. Little Jake Mooty kept the Dodgers under his thumb with seven hits.

The Cardinals muffed a golden opportunity to cut down distance by losing to the last-place Phillies, 5-4, in a night game at Philadelphia.

The Cards banged out 15 hits and brought Mort Cooper up to the ninth inning with a 4-2 lead. Emmett Mueller opened with a double. Bob Bragan duplicated it for the tying run, and Alvin Krist, who hurried to the rescue, yielded a single to Ben Warren for the winning tally.

Reds Are Hot
Cincinnati's red-hot Reds picked up a game on the leaders by beating the Boston Braves, 8-5, but still were 9½ games behind first place. Bucky Walters easily coasted to his 16th victory.

The Pittsburgh Pirates bounced back from their four-straight defeats at Brooklyn by nipping the New York Giants, 5-3, behind big Max Butcher, who now has stopped the Giants six times this season.

In the American League Bob Feller found the time ripe for his 21st victory, a 2-0 shutout of the pace-setting New York Yankees. Feller, who had won only one other game in more than a month, scattered seven hits and fanned nine for Cleveland's first triumph in 10 games and New York's second straight shutout. Atley Donald, who had beaten Feller twice in previous encounters, held the Tribe to eight hits and was superbly accurate. The Browns took the only runs of the contest in the first inning.

The defeat cost the Yanks nothing but embarrassment, however, because the second-place Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak was snapped by Boston, 8-5. The Washington Senators swept a doubleheader from Detroit on two six-hit pitching jobs by Dutch Leonard and Sid Hudson, 6-3, and 9-0, and climbed to sixth place, as the Philadelphia Athletics split with the last-place St. Louis Browns. Bob Harris held the A's to eight blows as the Browns took the opener, 11-3. Tom Ferrick retaliated with a four-hit shutout in the nightcap which the Athletics won 12-0. Sam Chapman hit three home runs during the proceedings.

Guernsey Gets Stamps
Stocks of penny postage stamps have become so low in Guernsey, one of the Channel Islands, that the local authorities are being allowed by the Germans to print an issue of their own. Before the German occupation Guernsey received her supplies of stamps from the General Post Office in London. The new issue bears the arms of the island and is valid only on letters sent between Guernsey and the other Channel Islands.

Tie Stamps Chamellon
Plaid really stamps chamellons, declared Kenneth Dalzell on his return to Belfast, Northern Ireland, from Portuguese East Africa. To test the theory that chamellons burst when placed on plaid, Dalzell put the lizard-like reptile on a red and yellow tartan. In each test the chamellon began to swell, its tail curled, and it retreated stupified to something light green or blue and assumed colors to match.

A Question Created By Divorce

In the question of whether it is ever customary for a woman to return her wedding ring to her husband if they are divorced, "ever" is an unanswerable word. Usually she keeps both. Sometimes she is criticized for this - and justly - but only when the ring has a sentimental value in his family, and there was no child who could later on inherit it.

A ring that was bought for her is certainly hers to keep. It was a stone of his mother's or his grandmother's, the ex-wife should offer to return it. If she is told to keep it, then it is quite all right to do so. In other words, returning rings to an ex-wife is not an obligation, like the returning of the engagement ring when an engagement is broken. This last is a real obligation.

A Garden Wedding At 4 O'clock

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have been invited to a garden wedding. I think it will be quite formal, and we are wondering what we should wear. It is at four in the afternoon. Shall I wear a long dress and hat, or may it be a smart, tailored, "sports" type of dress? Should my husband wear a dark business suit, or may it be a summer suit, if so, what kind?

Answer: Wear your prettiest daytime dress. It doesn't matter whether it be severely tailored with a short skirt, or sheer and feminine with a long skirt, although it is an unusually good chance to wear the latter. But do not wear a "short-top" type of dress, and do, please wear a hat. As to your husband's summer clothes, even though cutaway is always correct, it looks very stuffy in the country - unless "country club" means the outskirts of town. If the wedding is to be in a city house, that has a garden, he would wear a cutaway. If it is in the real country, he should wear country clothes, dark coat, and light grey or fawn-colored trousers. In other words, the background of town or real country makes the difference. The suburb is halfway between the two, and therefore, either could be worn.

Details That Are Unnecessary

Dear Mrs. Post: My wedding reception is taking place at the hotel, in what is known as the "Blue Room." Should this be included in the invitations in addition to the name of the hotel?

Answer: No - at the hotel the wedding guests are told where to go. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mrs. Post is sorry she can no longer answer personal letters. She is glad however to have many printed slips on a variety of subjects to offer to her readers. Today's slip is "Table Rules Of Importance." Be sure to send a three-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Mrs. Post, in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 75, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Bird Songs, Landscaping, Vegetable Storage Shown

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 22—Birds and bird songs, fully landscaped models of homes, forest products, pasture turfs, and new developments in agriculture are included in exhibits by nine departments of the New York state college of agriculture at the State Fair this year, August 24 to September 1, announces Prof. G. S. Butts, general supervisor of the college exhibits.

The departments and what they will show:

Vegetable crops: Storage of vegetables for winter use, with a display of vegetables and recommended practices for keeping them.

Floriculture: Ten models of homes, fully landscaped, to be offered in the form of dioramas. The object is to promote the improvement of house and home grounds.

Plant breeding: Varieties of corn for silage and for grain in New York state, showing what plant breeders have accomplished in improving these crops for farm use.

Forestry: Forest products from managed farm woodlots, such as firewood, fence posts, Christmas trees, and poplar for pulp.

Pomology: Use of the new hormone spray to control the drop of apples. A mature McIntosh tree will be transported from Ithaca and kept alive at the fair.

Ornithology: Birds and bird songs, including the songs of both familiar and rare birds.

Agronomy: Improvement and management of pastures. Several kinds of turf will be on display.

Publications: A joint exhibit of bulletins, from both the college of agriculture and the state experiment stations at Geneva and Cornell.

Soil conservation service: Recommended practices for saving soil and water by means of strip cropping and tillage on the contour.

Each exhibit will be framed by a large pictorial background, Professor Butts says. As in past years, the college displays will be in the state institutions building and will

★AMERICANA★ 'KILL THE UMPIRE!'

By RAY PEACOCK

AP Feature Service Writer

WE HAVE a guy in our office who is called Buckley and is a very mild fellow indeed. Every morning he slides unobtrusively into his chair, looks around somewhat apologetically, and quietly goes about his work, which chiefly is drawing fat people who are little images of Buckley himself.

When Buckley says something, which isn't often, we have to listen hard, because his voice is gentle and soft. And in the late afternoon he puts away his pens and brushes and says good night quietly and that is that.

Such is Buckley—one half of him.

The other half is a raving maniac.

On Saturday and Sunday afternoons Buckley puts a chip on his shoulder and sallies forth to the baseball park. He pushes people out of his way to get to his favorite seat. He dares anybody to belittle them bums, the Dodgers, because Buckley is a Brooklyn fan and at any moment may go berserk.

He views umpires with bitter, undemocratic class hatred. A close decision against the Dodgers catapults him from his seat, frothing with invectives. His thunderous voice explodes out of the bleachers, and words of the little people scatter in the wind.

"Kill the dirty dog!" he roars. "Cut him to pieces and fry him in oil!" And the pop bottle in his hand becomes a lethal weapon.

On Monday mornings Buckley comes back to the office, exhausted and subdued. Somebody says, "How did the Brooklyn come out, Buckley?" And Buckley, surprised that anybody should ask him something, looks around with a pleased smile.

"It was a good game," he says, mildly. "They won." And then he bends his head and goes back to drawing more fat little Buckylys.

Fleischmanns High School Will Open Wednesday, Sept. 3

The fall term of Fleischmanns High School will begin Wednesday, September 3. Notices of the opening have been sent to each student together with a summary of subjects and marks in each, of his high school achievement to date. If such cards are not received, please communicate with the school concerning it.

New students should bring a transcript of their record from the school last attended. A birth certificate should be brought to school in order that the record may be copied. In cases where a birth certificate is not available a baptismal certificate may be brought instead.

All students entering the first grade should bring a birth or baptismal certificate. This is the only requirement. The State Education Department recommends that no pupil be admitted to the first grade who has not reached his fifth birthday. In many such instances a five year old is too young and immature to attend school. It is hoped that parents will use their best judgment in such cases or where there is doubt the principal will be glad to discuss the matter with the parents. While not essential it is desirable to have as many students as possible inoculated against various child diseases. State aid is based on attendance at school. Everyday that a child misses from school causes the district to lose about 75 cents. Therefore, good health is necessary for good attendance and good attendance is essential.

The teaching staff for next year consists of: Supervising principal, L. Ray Alexander; First and second grades, Lydia Waltke; Third and fourth grades, Marjorie Fay; Fifth and sixth grades and shop, Edward Caswell; Seventh and eight grades, Ethel Alton; Ann Reeves; art, Helen Hardt; music and English I, Jane Riggs; business, Margaret Schwennesen; science, Crawford Lasher; Latin and mathematics, Christina Flisser; French and history, Theodora Churchill; English and library, Betty Gene Hickey; physical education and coaching, Chauncey Brown.

College Announces Two Appointments

Eunice Heywood, Iva Gross Chosen to State Extension

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 22—Two new appointments in the home economics and 4-H club extension service are announced by the New York state college of agriculture.

Miss Eunice Heywood becomes assistant state leader of home demonstration agents, and Miss Iva Mae Gross assistant state 4-H club leader. Positions formerly held by them will not be filled, according to the announcement of L. R. Simons, director of extension service.

Miss Heywood received her B. S. degree from Oregon state agricultural college in 1929, and the degree of master of arts from Columbia University in 1940. She taught in the rural and city schools in Oregon, Washington, and Hawaii. For seven and one-half years she was home demonstration agent in Cayuga and Oswego counties, and later became home demonstration agent-at-large with headquarters at Cornell.

Miss Gross received her B. S. degree from The Stout Institute, Menominee, Wis., and is now a candidate for master's degree from Teacher's college, Columbia University. She was a teacher of home economics for eight years, a sales conference leader, and for five years was head of a commercial department where she organized a course of study for definite employment based on a city-wide business survey which she originated and supervised. She has served as district 4-H club agent, with headquarters at Cornell, for about two years.

Employment Bigotry Reported on Wane

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 22 — A steady increase in the number of New York state firms who have relaxed employment specifications based on race, religion, and national origin was reported today by Industrial Commissioner Frieda S. Miller, chairman of the governor's committee on discrimination in employment.

"According to a survey conducted by the committee, hundreds of employers in this state who have discriminated against qualified workers because they were Negroes, or Jewish, or of Italian or German extraction, are today reversing their practices," said Miss Miller.

"Among the firms who have very liberal hiring policies in regard to these groups are the Pullman Co., Bethlehem Steel, Ford Motor, Republic Steel, American Radiator, Curtiss-Wright, Grumann, Republic Aviation, Bell Laboratory, Sperry Gyroscope, Ford Instrument, North American Iron and Steel, Ludlum Steel, American Brass, American Magnesium, Acme Steel and Malleable Iron Works, National Aniline and Chemical, and American Valve."

According to the survey, Curtiss-Wright, Bell, Grumann and Republic Aviation have expanded job opportunities for Negroes. Sperry Gyroscope has hired its first crew of skilled Negro production workers and instituted up-grading programs for the promotion of less skilled Negroes. The same policy has been adopted by the Ford Instrument Co., which has hired Negro maintenance workers and will hire skilled Negroes in the early future.

Grumann, Republic and Curtiss-Wright are providing training courses, Grumann promising to give job and training opportunities to every qualified Negro in Nassau and Suffolk counties. The firm is already employing Negroes.

Curtiss-Wright in Buffalo has informed the state employment service that it will exhaust the supply of all qualified Negroes before importing any white workers. Several hundred Negro molders are being recruited for various Buffalo defense plants, particularly Curtiss-Wright. Other Buffalo employers of Negroes include Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, American Brass, American Radiator, Buffalo Foundry and Machine Co., Chevrolet, Ford, and Socony Vacuum.

The survey also revealed that a Brooklyn loan corporation is hiring Jews for the first time and a manufacturer of life belts in New York city is hiring Negroes for the first time. A number of workers with Italian names have been placed at an army base where they were previously banned.

"Our committee on discrimination in employment has been endorsed by hundreds of the state's most prominent industrialists, professional men and civic leaders who have promised to do everything in their power to further the fight against discriminatory hiring practices," said Miss Miller.

"Although we have made considerable progress, the problem is still a formidable one," she added. "However, misunderstandings on the part of defense employers and some federal representatives in the field have been cleared up and everything points to a complete use of all our available manpower in the very near future."

Miss Miller pointed out that Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt has announced that placements of Negro workers by the nation's public employment offices were 47 per cent higher from January-May 1941 than in the same period of 1940. From April to May, placements of Negroes increased 15 per cent, whereas placements of other persons increased 12 per cent.

Accidents on American merchant ships have decreased during recent years, according to the Department of Commerce.

Dutchess Group Visits Fair at Forsyth Park

Rhinebeck, Aug. 22—Dutchess county fair officials who visited the Ulster county fair Wednesday were greatly impressed by the record attendance and high quality of exhibits, Benson R. Frost, executive secretary, said this morning. His one major criticism was the over-crowded condition of Forsyth Park, which he however admitted was "probably unavoidable."

"Kingston and Ulster county have a right to be proud of their annual fair," Mr. Frost said. "It takes a lot of work to get even a one-day fair ready and with the limited space available it must have been a job to get all the exhibits in. We had a good time and hope our friends from across the river will also enjoy our fair."

In addition to Mr. Benson, Pierre E. Cookingham and Lewis H. Winne, executive committee members, comprised the inspection party from Rhinebeck.

'France Forever' Meeting Is Held

'France Forever' Meeting Is Held in City To Form Kingston Chapter; Steck Speaks

by John G. M. Hilton, who explained its purpose.

Jean H. Steck of the New York office of the organization of "France Forever" and who recently spoke before Kiwanis here, was the main speaker of the evening. He told of the work and aims of the organization and briefly reviewed the Free French movement under General de Gaulle.

Mr. Steck said that today the Free French army comprises some 60,000 white Frenchmen and about 45,000 colonial troops. They have a navy that lists around 100 ships of all kinds, including a 35,000-ton battleship and the Surcouf, largest submarine in the world.

Saying that the Free French forces were being added to daily, since "no government can stifle a nation," Mr. Steck disclosed information to the effect that more than two-thirds of the French government forces that were fighting against them in the Syrian campaign now are fighting with the Free French forces.

"France is occupied but not conquered," declared Mr. Steck, as he told of the work of the "France Forever" organization, which in addition to doing everything in its power to aid and support the Free French army under General de Gaulle, and which is backed by over 80 per cent of the French people in this country, besides a large number of Americans, sends short wave broadcasts daily to the people in France. That these broadcasts are being heard, he said, is proved by the many letters received from France. The French are hungry for news of what is being done by the Free French army, the British and the people of the United States.

The insignia of "France Forever" is the cross of Joan of Arc. Its three principal aims were listed as participation in the war; keeping the people of the French empire acquainted with what is being done and the task that lies before them; sustaining the morale of the French people.

Nelson W. Snyder, deputy city clerk and a member of the Woodstock Chapter, who made arrangements for the meeting, was called on and discussed the possibility of forming a chapter of France Forever in Kingston. He said that a number of organizations had been asked to send representatives to the meeting, but a check-up showed that but about 40 per cent were represented. Among these were the College Women's Club, Rotary, American Legion, Elks, 40 and 8, although none were represented officially.

Mr. Snyder said that it was hoped to have a benefit some time later in aid of the Free French cause.

The evening program closed with a showing of pictures depicting the course of the Free French movement—following General de Gaulle's call to "Frenchmen, wherever you are" to rally to the cause of France's Freedom. The pictures showed King George and General de Gaulle reviewing Free French troops and war time scenes in Africa in which the Free French army troops were victorious.

Financing and Plans in
New Booklet on Homes

FHA Helps You Own Such a Home

The house that Jack built for you and the youngsters—on his modest salary!

Thanks to loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration, families with low incomes may easily finance such charming homes. On a $1,500 salary you may comfortably buy a property worth $3,000.

The down payment on a $3,000 home, if you're getting a "Title II" FHA loan, would be only 10 per cent or $300. You pay off the remainder—the loan itself—in monthly payments of $15.70 over 25 years, as you'd pay rent.

If you're planning on a family you can conserve funds by building a 1½-story house and leaving the attic unfinished inside until you need the space.

It's economical, too, to keep bathroom and kitchen pipes close enough so you won't pay for unnecessary plumbing fixtures.

Our new 24-page booklet has photographs and floor plans of 22 homes valued from $2,600 to $8,250. Explains FHA financing, tells how to save on space, materials, electric wiring, insulation, built-in furniture.

Two Are Arrested For Disturbance In Early Morning

A woman's screams on Ora Place shortly before 2 o'clock this morning attracted police attention and Officers Minasian and Taylor rushed to the street in one of the police radio cars. The officers arrested Raymond Elting, 38, on a charge of public intoxication, while Floyd Elting, 33, was arrested by Mrs. Vesta Trowbridge and turned over to the police on a charge of disorderly conduct.

According to the police report the two Eltings boarded at the Trowbridge home at 20 Ora Place. Mrs. Trowbridge claimed that Floyd entered the house and drove her out, breaking a lock on the door and a window glass.

Later in the morning Raymond Elting was arraigned before Judge Raymond Mine in police court and pleaded guilty to the public intoxication charge. He was fined $2.

Mrs. Trowbridge did not appear in court to press the disorderly conduct charge against Floyd Elting, and he was discharged for lack of prosecution.

Cecil Osterhout, 37, a negro of 140 Flatbush avenue, was arrested last night by his wife, Marie, and turned over to the police on a charge of assault, third degree. This morning the wife failed to appear to press the charge and Judge Mine discharged Osterhout.

Maid Burns Three Valuable Paintings

New York, Aug. 22 (AP)—Police said that a maid who "wanted to hurt" her employer today confessed she stole three paintings, including two Gainsboroughs, from Captain Daniel S. Sickles, aviation executive, and burned them. The paintings were insured for $44,000.

The maid, Marie Hauser, 45, was arrested in the prison ward at Bellevue Hospital, where she was taken after what police said was a suicide attempt. She was charged with grand larceny and malicious mischief.

Miss Hauser herself reported the disappearance of the paintings last week from the Hotel Savoy Plaza suite of her employer. During subsequent questioning detectives said she admitted taking the paintings to a Long Island cottage owned by Capt. Sickles and burning them.

She was quoted by police as saying she loved the captain's wife and two children, but "wanted to hurt him," and felt she could best do so by destroying the paintings in which he took great pride.

The three paintings—"Black Boy" and "Wayfarer" by Gainsborough, and another of the German school, founded by Roger Van Der Weyden—were among 15 works of art which had been stored behind a screen in the hotel suite a month earlier. They were said to be worth more than the sum for which they were insured.

firemen the fire had spread throughout the walls and floors and to the attic.

There were fears for the extensive buildings of the Deyo & Co. lumber yard and mill, which extend to within 20 feet or so of the rear of the burned building, but the metal roof kept the fire from breaking through on top and out-breaks along the sides were kept under control. The firemen were favored by the fact that there was no wind at the time of the fire.

The second floor of the building was occupied as living quarters by some half dozen employees on the Lackawack water project. Their furniture and household goods were not burned, but were badly damaged by water used to check spread of the fire in the walls and ceilings.

The factory has been in operation for a number of years and it is understood gave employment to about 20 women. The loss in machines and other equipment, as well as in stock and finished goods on hand is heavy.

To Race at Fair

Rex Mays, blond speed sensation of Glendale, California, who won the 1940 Indianapolis 500-mile race, has been signed to compete in Syracuse in the two-day auto race program which will climax the New York State Fair Sunday, August 31, and Monday, September 1. The entry of Mays gives the field two Indianapolis winners, Mauri Rose, who finished first this year, having been an early entry.

Russian War Shows Hitler Preparing Offensive Drives

ting set for further great offensives in the Mediterranean and western theatres if fortune gives him the break in his efforts against the Bolsheviks. Of more immediate concern, fresh trouble is boiling up fast in the Near East.

There's no question about the fuhrer's intent; there's considerable question about his ability to carry out his full program in the immediate future. He's got to dispose of those fighting Reds before he can go all-out again in the west, and the bad weather is on its way. As I passed through well-nigh deserted Fifth avenue at day-break this morning I saw a drab little scrub-lady looking wistfully at a fur-trimmed coat in a shop window, and such is the association of ideas in a mind attuned to thoughts of war that I immediately said to myself:

"It's going to be a cold, tough time for the Hitlerian armies if they get caught in the snows of a Russian winter."

View of Purposes

We get a view of Herr Hitler's purposes in two highly significant developments. These are:

Reports from German-occupied France say improvements are being rushed on defenses in French African colonies, including Dakar which in hostile hands would constitute a grave menace to trans-Atlantic shipping, and a potential threat to the western hemisphere. German military activity along the Turkish frontiers to Bulgaria and Greece give rise to the thought that the Nazis likely are getting ready to seize the Dardanelles from the Turks, and perhaps may try to drive through Turkey into other parts of the Near East.

The French undoubtedly would say that the military preparation in their colonies is for defense against all comers—Allied or Nazi. That may be true, but in considering that thought I come up against a little item from Berlin, saying Germany has granted France a reduction on occupation costs from 400,000,000 francs a day to 300,000,000.

Why such a cut? Maybe the fuhrer has done it out of the kindness of his heart, but one suspects that he is buying something. What? Well, we know that the thing he wants most from Vichy is use of French Colonial bases.

Anglo Invasion Unlikely

Barring a quick and unexpected collapse of the Red Armies, it isn't probable that Hitler will find it feasible to attempt an invasion of the British Isles this year. However, with the arrival of winter and the slackening of fighting in Russia he must make a further drive against Britain's lifeline to American supplies across the Atlantic, and he probably will accompany it by another offensive against British control of the Mediterranean. The French bases would be invaluable for both these operations.

The Turks are in a tight place. Hitler didn't dare attack their army when Russia was standing by and presumably ready to go to their assistance, but his success in the Ukraine has eased the Red threat. It's quite in the cards that he may strike at Turkey now, and his reasons would be:

To open up the Dardanelles Straits so that Italian warships and transports could get through into the Black Sea to help smash the Reds.

To get troops across Turkey and into the Russian Caucasus to co-operate with the Nazi forces driving across the Ukraine toward the Caucasus. (Please look at your maps, because it's no use reading this unless you do.)

To move troops into Iran (Persia) not only to secure control of the Persian oil wells, but to establish a base for operations against the British in the Near East and—taking the long view—a blow at India if Hitler is successful in Europe and the Near East.

Meanwhile the British have troops up against the Persian-Iraq border, and the Russians are standing on Persia's northern frontier, ready to counter Nazi moves.

Lions Club Holds Weekly Meeting

Service Group Convenes at Local Hotel

President Al Reina presided at the regular weekly meeting of the Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel this week after a two-weeks' vacation. Guest of the club was Francis Martocci of Woodstock. President Reina presented each member with identification cards to be worn by the members at their meetings.

The guest speaker of the day was Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang, who was introduced by the program chairman, Walter Donnaruma. Mr. Stang spoke on the grand jury and some of its activities and duties and the fact that the jury system being a great safeguard in civil and criminal matters which "Mr. Average Citizen" is many times involved in through no fault of his own. He also spoke of the importance of having every citizen serve whenever called upon, to serve on either grand or trial jury and not take advantage of the many excuses and exemptions which are many times offered, also that the judicial and legal system of this country must be maintained by the rank and file, consisting of just such men as represented by the various service clubs throughout the land. President Al Reina appointed Tom Morrissey to attend the meeting at municipal auditorium Thursday evening at 8 o'clock and represent Lions Club in connection with raising funds to broadcast radio messages to the people of France.

Stauning Declares Denmark Had No Choice in Iceland

Prime Minister Says He Has Faith in American Promise to Quit Northern Island

Copenhagen, German-occupied Denmark, Aug. 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Thovald Stauning said in a declaration to the lower house of Parliament today that Iceland had no choice in the matter of occupation by U. S. troops.

But, Stauning asserted, he had faith in the American promise to leave the strategic northern island after the war.

Meanwhile, he said, there is a possibility that Iceland may become directly involved in the conflict.

(Iceland and German-occupied Denmark are technically sister kingdoms under the same crown.) The American occupation, Stauning added, was "regrettable from the Danish and European viewpoint."

"Iceland," he said, "belongs to the northern states and through them to Europe . . . but in this place I want to express my conviction that historic developments will confirm the solemn promises of the American government."

"Meanwhile I hope Iceland in a difficult situation will not lose sight of its historic connection with the Danish peoples and through them with Europe."

Five Arrested

Five motorists were arrested Thursday by the police on charges of traffic violations. All furnished bail for their appearance later in police court. Charles Slaughter of Newburgh, Benjamin Spewack of Accord, Gerow Schoonmaker of Wallkill, and Michael Hart of Lawrenceville street, were all charged with failing to observe full stop signs. Rudolph Gelis of Ashokan was charged with failing to report a change of address to the commissioner of motor vehicles.

Russia is estimated to have 1,000,000 troops in the Far East, facing upward of 500,000 Japanese massed on the Manchukuo-Siberia frontier.

In similar vein, the Japanese newspaper Asahi accused Britain and the United States of trying to entice Russia into a plan of encirclement of Japan, and asserted that war supplies shipped to the Far East "are likely to be used against Japan in case the Soviets decide to complete Japan's encirclement."

aimed especially at assuring Japan adequate supplies of iron, steel and coal within the east Asia "co-prosperity sphere."

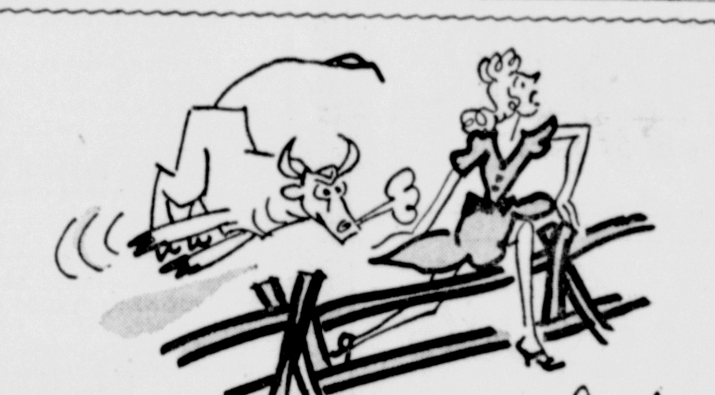

People Are Warned

Simultaneously, Thailand (Siam) warned its people to dig air-raid shelters as a "common-sense preparedness."

The Thai radio told the populace, however, that the government fully trusted Japanese and British assurances that no attack on the country was contemplated. The broadcast said an offensive from British Malaya or Burma was strategically impracticable, but it added that a direct attack from Japanese-occupied French Indo-China might be more feasible.

In Shanghai, the Japanese army began erecting new barbed-wire barricades around Shanghai's city limits, stirring apprehension among non-Axis foreign residents. Japanese officials gave the explanation that it was necessary to prevent terrorists from entering or leaving.

The Tokyo newspaper Hochi, commenting on the shipment of American aviation gasoline to Vladivostok through Japanese waters, declared it would undoubtedly reach the Russian Far East armies and was an "American design to add menace to the

New Kind of Apple Storage

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 22 — The storage life of certain varieties of apples is markedly increased by using the proper atmosphere and temperature. Several months can be added to the normal storage life of McIntosh, which normally passes its prime condition in ordinary cold storage by March. This statement is taken from a new Cornell bulletin that tells of results with the controlled-atmosphere storage of apples at the Cornell University agricultural experiment station. Fruit growers may obtain single copies of this bulletin free by writing to the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y. Ask for bulletin P-762.

Shark Industry Booms

Lower California is witnessing notable expansion of its shark liver industry. It is reported in Mexico City. This has helped to offset the decline in the state's mining, pearling and agricultural activities. Shark livers valued at $20,000 monthly are handled by a cooperative established early in the year with 350 members. Many independent fishermen are also making money out of shark livers.

Many Improvements Have Been Made to Schools, Grounds.

There Will Be New Faces in Faculty Ranks at Opening

Schools Will Open for Fall Term September 2; Big Job Done at Vocational Extension

When the city school bells summon students back to their desks on Tuesday morning, September 2, it will be to return to numerous renovated school rooms and greatly improved school grounds. During the summer the Board of Education has had crews of men at work making annual repairs to schools throughout the city and also completing numerous permanent improvements.

Incidentally, there will be a few new faces on the teaching staff, among them two new instructors in the vocational school departments. In the vocational school extension building, which will be opened in the Millard Building at Broadway and Dederick street will be Milford Seaman, who will have charge of the new auto mechanics courses there. In charge of the comprehensive general shop course will be Glendon Seaman, a graduate of the Buffalo State Teachers College, who has been added to the local teaching staff. In several of the other schools there will be replacements to take the place of teachers who have either retired from service or failed to renew their contracts with the local Board.

President Alfred Schmid of the Board of Education and Trustee Bernard Feeney, chairman of the Building Committee, have supervised the summer repairs and improvements and President Schmid said the school properties would be found in excellent condition by the time schools open next month.

One of Biggest Jobs

One of the biggest jobs of the summer was the fitting out of the new vocational school in leased quarters in the Millard Building, where the Board has leased 7,000 square feet of floor space for additional shops and taken an option on an additional 3,000 square feet of space on the second floor for future expansion purposes if needed.

Workmen under the supervision of James Millard have been at work for some time making alterations to the building and installing equipment demanded by the State Education Department in order that the building would meet the requirements of the education law. This work of alteration is being done by Lyman T. Schoonmaker and it is expected to be completed by the opening of schools or within a few days thereafter. Already some of the newly purchased equipment has been installed in the shop.

In spite of the government priority regulations new lathes for machine shops have been received and it is expected that within a few days more of the equipment will be here. Equipment costing approximately $7,000 will be here and installed in the new shop by September 1 and additional equipment will be arriving shortly thereafter.

Provides More Space

Opening of the new shop in the Millard Building will remove from the present vocational school adjacent to the high school, the automobile shop and thus provide additional space in the vocational school for other departments.

The welding department which has been housed in the vocational building at the high school will be moved by Hubert Hoderath, director of Industrial and Vocational Education, and also director of the local defense program, to the Millard Building. Since the welding operation is closely associated with the auto mechanics course, Mr. Hoderath has made plans to move the welding department to the automobile mechanics shop in the leased quarters.

Removal of the welding department will allow additional space for machine shop instruction and the change in location of the auto shop will permit additional space in the vocational building where a metal working shop and a printing shop will be opened this fall. Printing was once a Manual Arts course at the local high school but was discontinued several years ago. Recently there has been a renewed demand for this course.

Better lighting will be found in both the vocational school and in the Millard Building extension, where fluorescent lighting is being installed. A lighting survey has been made by Richard C. Dawe of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation to ascertain the requirements. Better lighting in the school is a part of the program being carried out by the Board of Education to permit better work with less eye strain to students.

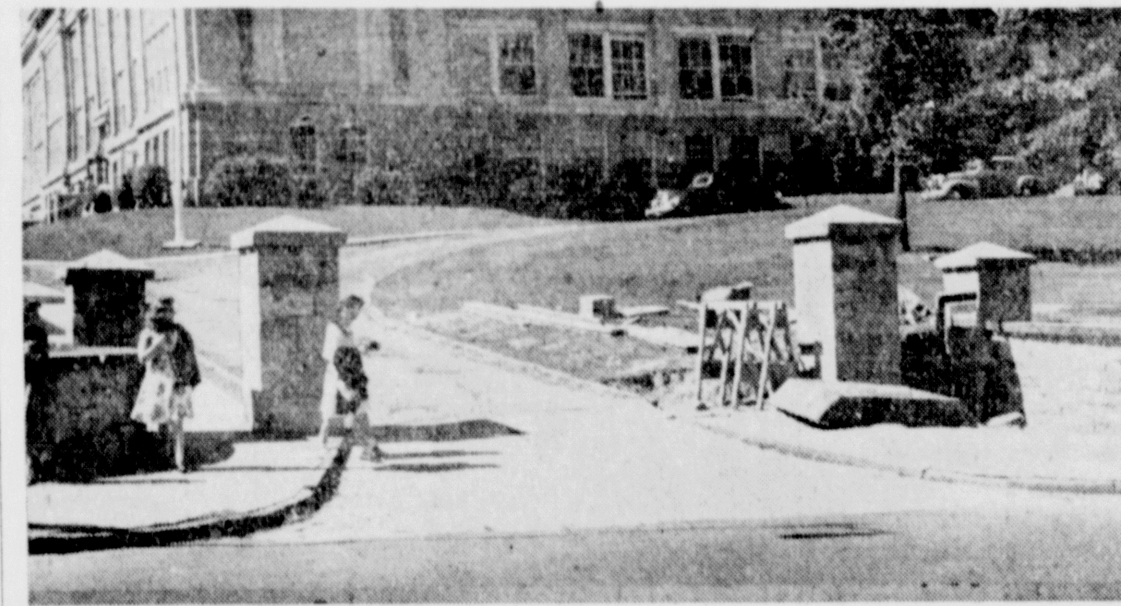

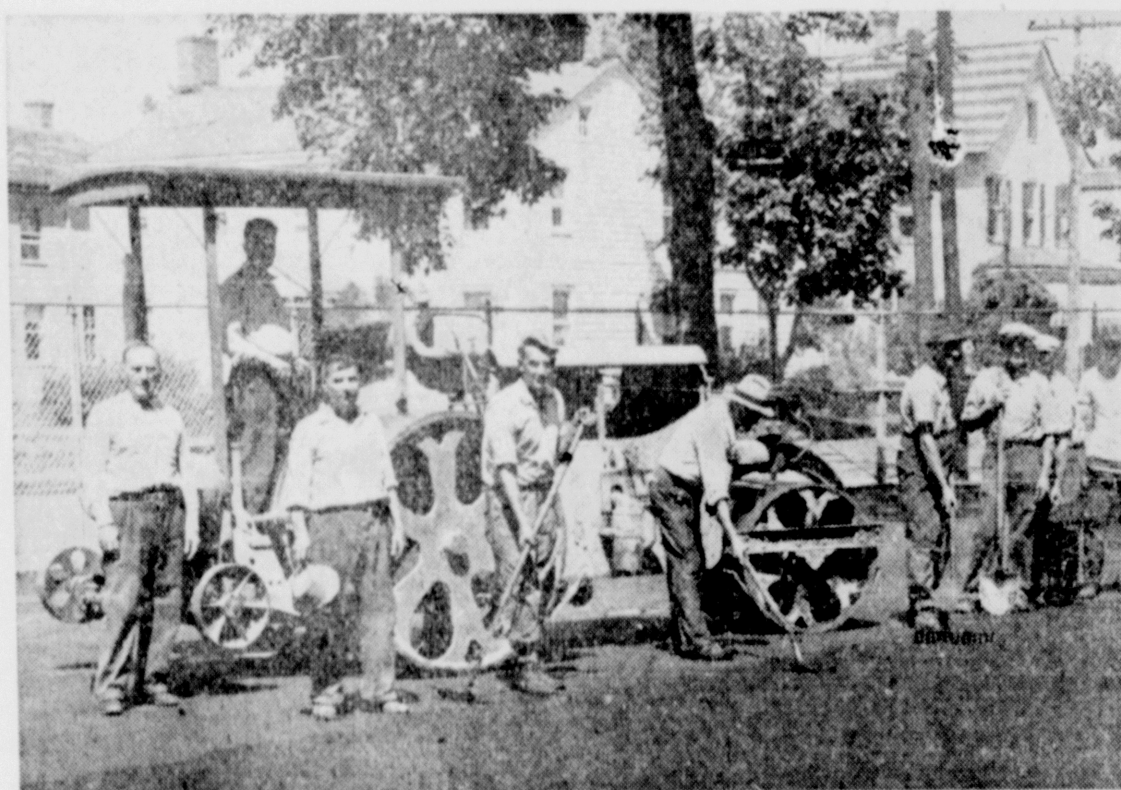

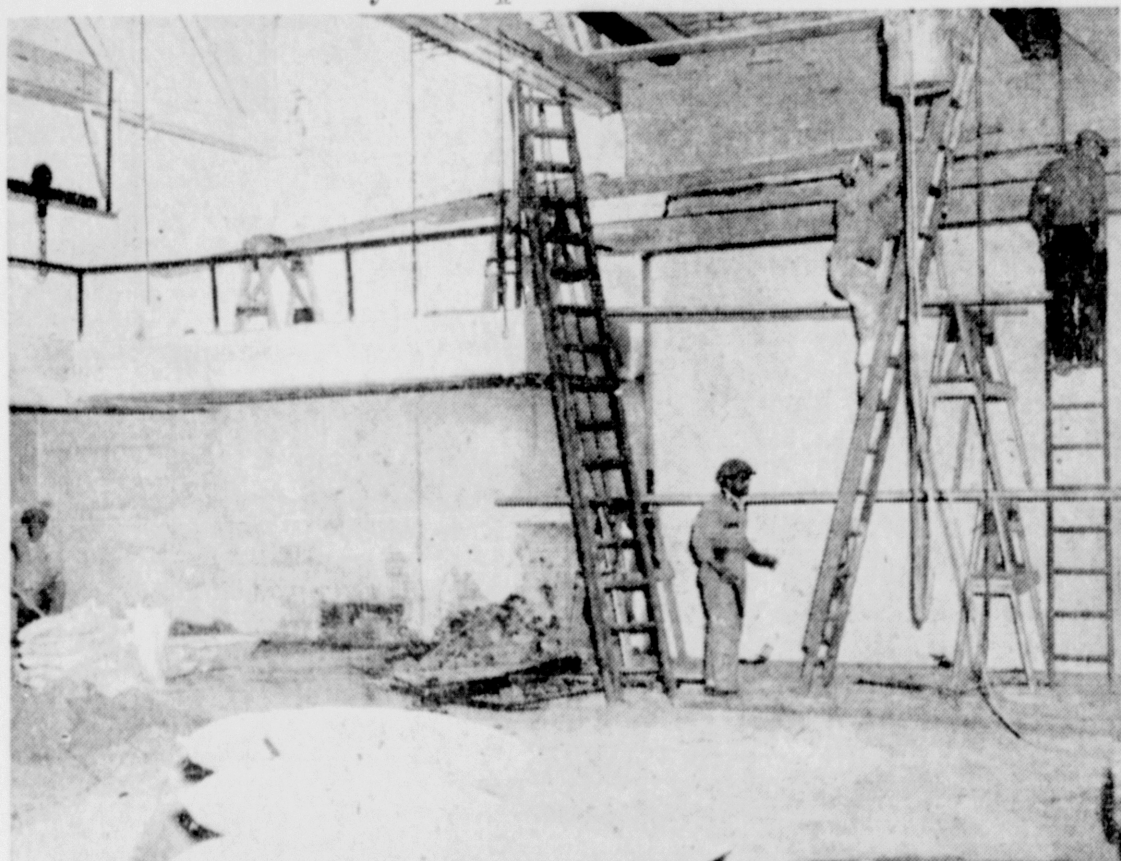

School Yards Dressed

President Schmid said that one of the major exterior improvements to the grade schools was the top dressing of the entire school yard of No. 8 with "Blacktop" and he said that work was now under way at No. 7 where the school yard was to be similarly treated.

New floors have been laid in several rooms at No. 6 school and a fence has been erected at the rear of No. 2 school on West Chestnut street. Work is now under way on the new twelve foot fence along the southerly side of the lower play ground at the M.J.M. School where property owners complained of damage to their properties by persons using the playground. This new fence will prevent trespass on the properties facing Andrew street and will permit the use of the playground for ball games again.

At No. 5 school a new heating boiler has been installed and the painting of both exterior and interior of school buildings as a W. P. A. project has been progressing during the summer. Many of the schools already have been painted outside. Considerable work has been done at No. 6 where painting operations are now under way and three rooms in the high school have been re-painted by W. P. A. workers.

Many Improvements Have Been Made to City's School Properties

In accordance with the latest seating methods tables and chairs have been installed in several of the lower grade class rooms. This seating arrangement for the little tots has been found to be more acceptable than the customary desk and seat and the Board of Education is making this change in several rooms.

New Walk at No. 7

A new walk is also being placed on Crown street in front of No. 7 school and Thomas Kennedy and Son has also made repairs to the high school walks during the summer vacation period. At the high school the south exit gate has been widened to give safer passage for students and the large buses which use that gate. The large stone pillar at the north was removed and the gate widened out similar to the north entrance gate. This was done in the interest of safety. The gates are used not only by students entering or leaving the grounds but by the cars and buses which leave the premises. The narrow gateway created a dangerous condition and the widening operation will eliminate this dangerous condition.

During the summer the instruction of workmen in defense trades has been carried on at the vocational school under the direction of Director Hoderath. This work will be continued after the opening of school but there will necessarily be a change in the hours of operation of the defense program so as not to interfere with the use of buildings by students. During the summer the defense class have been using the vocational building from 7 a. m. until 3 p. m. On the opening of school these men will be required to again resume their night shift, going to work at 10 p. m. and working until 6 a. m. These men are taking the various courses to either learn a trade or "brush-up" on a trade in which they were once employed at so as to be able to go out and secure better jobs in the present emergency.

Mr. Hoderath is very much elated over the way local industry has absorbed the men who have completed the machine shop course during the past few months. Practically all of the men who have completed the course have secured employment to greater advantage and local industry has been anxious to secure more men who have taken the course in machine shop practice.

Class Is Discontinued

The N. Y. A. class has been temporarily discontinued because of lack of funds but Mr. Hoderath said application for additional funds has been made and should an additional allotment be made the While students of the city schools have been enjoying a long summer vacation, workmen have been making various improvements to the schools and grounds. Above are a few of the many projects that are nearing completion as vacation draws to a close. In the upper left is a room in the Millard building on Dederick street, as finishing touches are applied prior to moving in the different machines. These rooms will help the overcrowded manual training program of the high school. In the upper right is a view of the exterior of the building where wide concrete walks are being laid and new windows are being installed. In the center left are the gang of men and steam roller employed to give sidewalks No. Seven and Eight a new black top playground. Above two workmen prepare molds for a new cement walk around the driving circle in front of the high school. On the left is shown the exit in front of the high school where the stone pillars on one side have been set back and the sharp corners have been broadened. Various improvements, such as painting, new floors laid and fencing around the playgrounds have already been completed at other schools.

Freeman Photos

N. Y. A. class work will be resumed in the fall.

In the past the lack of facilities has prevented the local school from offering many students the full vocational courses. Vocational school instruction means a course of such length as to permit the student to get actual training which will fit him to go out in industry with a practical knowledge of a trade. Industrial Arts instruction, such as has been in vogue here for many years, permits a student to receive from 45 minutes to an hour and a half instruction in some trade line but does not allow sufficient time to instruct a student in any trade so as to go out and demand a job as is the case where a vocational training course is followed. The vocational school course as prescribed by the State Department calls for much more time and instruction.

Increased facilities this fall will permit trade courses in machine shop practice for high school students where three hours a day will be devoted to class work and the course will cover a two year period.

A course in garment machine instruction for unemployed women will be offered this fall again where a half day's instruction each morning will be given. All of the girls who have taken this work during the past two years have been successful in securing employment and the demand for more help continues.

Courses will be offered ninth grade students in general metal work, electricity and textile weaving. Among the new courses which will be open to ninth grade students will be offered opportunities this fall which have not been available before because of lack of facilities.

While at present the actual program of instruction in the various shops is still in the making it is expected that by the time schools open a definite program will have been worked out so as to offer students the widest range of instruction with special emphasis being placed on vocational courses which will give students sufficient time for instruction to learn a trade. With industry now demanding skilled workmen in all lines, trade instruction is becoming more of a necessity and the aim of the Kingston Board of Education is to offer to Kingston young men and women every possible facility to learn a trade during their attendance at school so that on completion of their school work they may go out and secure work in industry.

Clearance Sale Slated By Kingston Buick Co.

Conrad J. Gross, vice-president of the Kingston Buick, Clinton avenue, today announced an August clearance sale of 40 reconditioned cars. Because of the large number of new car sales this summer, Mr. Gross said used cars of late model were numerous now and room is required for the 1942 models which will shortly be announced. "Because of the reduction in production of new cars for 1942 due to defense work, automobile dealers throughout the country are at present in a state of uncertainty as to how to meet the new car demand for next year," said Mr. Gross. With a shortage of new cars next year

Playgrounds

Plays to Be Given

Children from six of the city's playgrounds will vie for dramatic honors this evening at Block Park when the Department of Recreation will hold its second annual inter-playground dramatics competition.

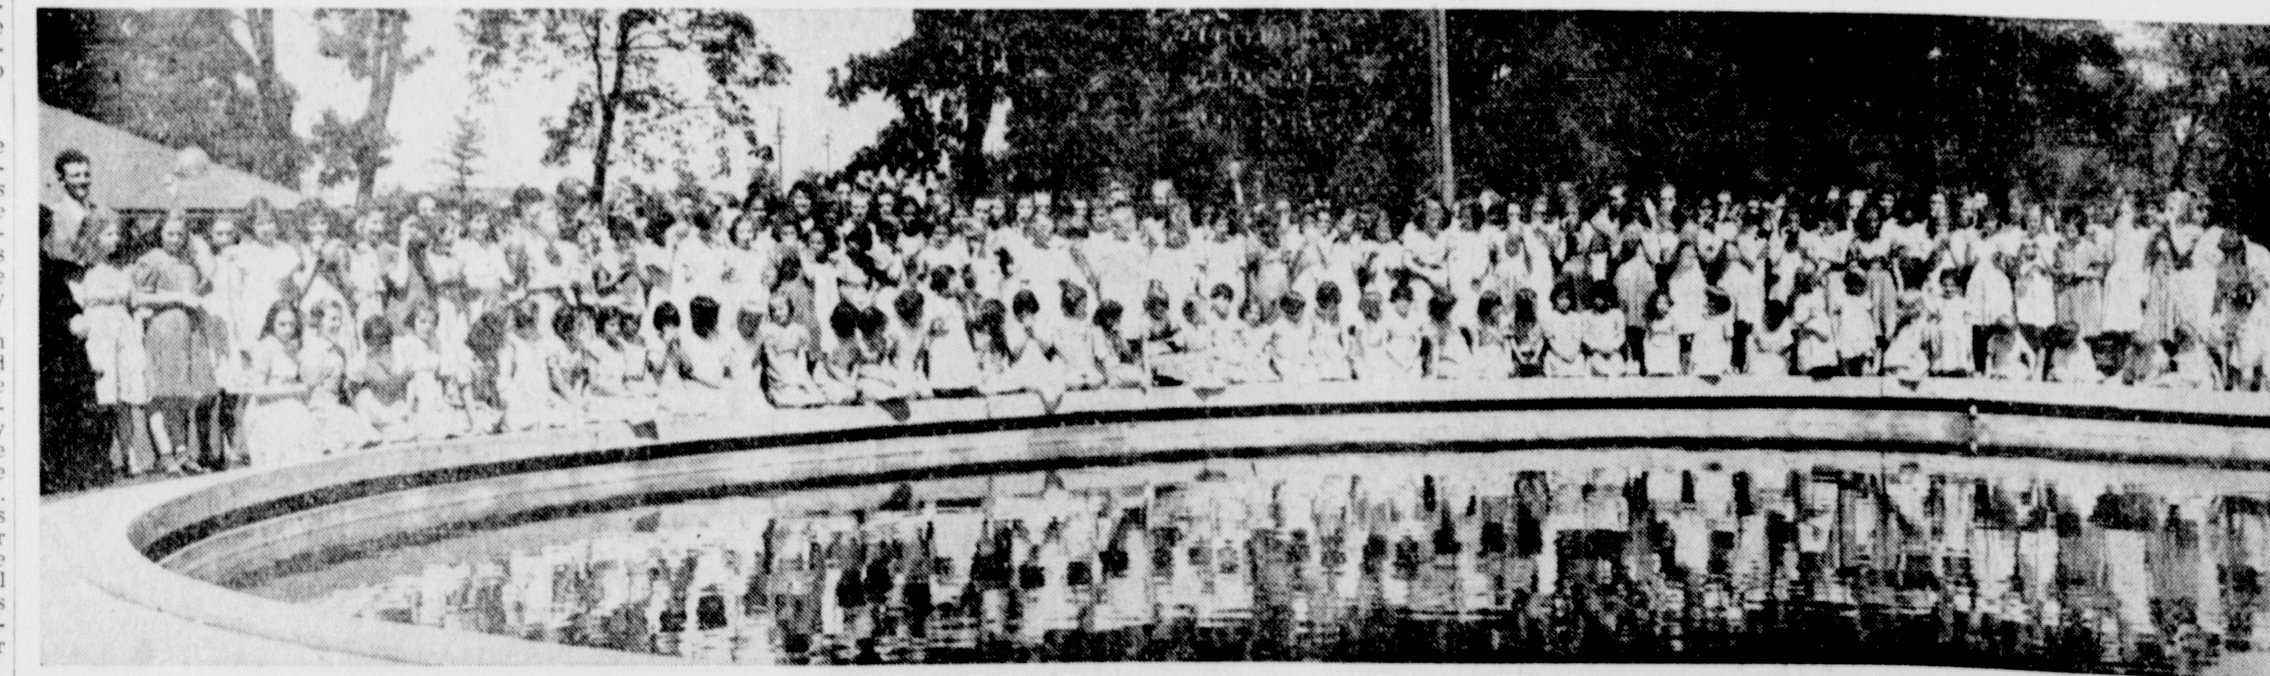

Six short plays will be presented by the playground children, and comedies seem to have been the unanimous choice. The plays to be given are "Fudge or No Fudge," "High School playground," "Shooting of Dan McGrew," "Barnyard Park," "An Evening at the Blakes," "Cornell Park," "Rehearsal," "Block Park," "The Minuet," Forsyth Park, and "Broadcast Rehearsal," Hutton Park.

The entire program will take place on the stage of the Block Park amphitheatre and will be picked up by public address systems in order to make it plainly heard by the audience.

A new gas generator for heating steel furnaces has been developed in Sweden, according to the Department of Commerce.

he predicted a constantly growing demand for good used cars and stated that good used cars would undoubtedly rise in price. Rumors of a further reduction in new car production he said was current in automobile circles and factory production probably would be further restricted. No notice as to when the 1942 Buick line will be in production has been received by the local distributors.

'White Pony' Has Another Showing At Elwyn Theatre

"White Pony" the play by Marion Lloyd which had its premier last year at the Woodstock Playhouse stopped over en route to Broadway for a second showing last night slightly revamped and with the cast slated for its New York opening.

The play, if it had nothing else, is deserving of its trip to Broadway, because of the chance it gives Charita Bauer to turn in the kind of acting which belongs in the top places. It is again worth the attention of New York for such scenes as the interludes of adolescence as given by Miss Bauer and Patricia Pearson who is also excellent as the chubby Bunny Winters.

There is a big-time smoothness also to the work of Robert Shayne, who plays Anthony Thayer, divorced father of Kathie Thayer (Charita Bauer) and no work on the Playhouse stage by Ivan Triestault has been better than that which he does in this play as Serge Dumay.

William Bock, Jr., as Reginald Farrington, "scholarship" salesman who aspires to philosophy provides some of the best comedy of the play and Marcella Swanson is convincing as the sophisticated Paula Trumbull.

Some of the best acting of the play is contributed by Lee Parry who as Peter Trumbull the one young man who learns to understand Kathie. He hits a high spot particularly in his scene with Kathie mimicking Marlene Dietrich.

The difficult role of Kathie's mother, Louise Trayer, is effectively handled by Kay Strozzi and Pauline Myers is a decided hit as the jitterbug maid Nettie.

The play continues through to Sunday evening.

Pertinent Facts On Conscription

Any matter pertaining to the classification of a Selective Service registrant must be taken up directly with the local board with which he is registered, Brigadier General Ames T. Brown, New York state director of selective service, advised registrants, their dependents and employers today.

Communications on this subject addressed to state or national selective service headquarters must be referred to the proper local boards, he said, because only local boards can act upon the cases of individual registrants until they have been classified, and appeal from a classification must be made through the local board of the registrant. He said:

"Any person entitled to appeal the classification of a registrant—the registrant, himself, any person who claims to be a dependent, or any person who has filed written evidence of the occupational necessity of the registrant—may do so within ten days after the registrant's notice of classification was mailed, unless the local board has extended that time. The appeal may be made in either of the following ways:

"By filing with the local board a written notice of appeal. Such notice need not be in any set form, but it must state the name of the registrant and the name and identity of the appellant to show he has the right to appeal.

"By signing the 'Appeal to Board of Appeal' on the registrant's questionnaire (DSS Form 40.)"

General Brown emphasized the provision of selective service regulations that the person who makes an appeal may attach to his notice of appeal, or to the registrant's questionnaire, a statement specifying wherein he believes the local board has been in error; that he may point out any information in the registrant's file which he believes has been passed over without proper consideration, and restate in full any data which the local board has failed or refused to include in the registrant's file.

"Selective service regulations," the general asserted, "have been drafted to give every registrant the fullest protection contemplated by the basic principle of the law which is that he shall be judged by his neighbors.

"The administration of selective service is thoroughly decentralized by law and by the regulations. The local board has primary power and jurisdiction.

"While both state and national headquarters have sympathetic regard for each individual registrant, those headquarters obviously cannot consider the case of each registrant. This is the responsibility of the local board. Its members have that intimate knowledge of the registrant, of his personal situation, and of the national defense needs of his community, that must be given primary consideration in any democratic formula. The local board must have classified a registrant for selection or deferment before either state or national headquarters can act upon his case."

Six Men Seize $9,000 Payroll

Newark Plant Is Invaded by Six Armed Men Who Flee in Black Car

Newark, N. J., Aug. 22 (AP)—Six men held up the Sigmund Eisner Co. plant here today and escaped with a payroll said to have contained $9,000.

Each man was armed and masked, police were told. They made their getaway in a black sedan bearing Bergen county license plates.

Miss Tillie Hymowitz, 22, who summoned police, said she was about to place a petty cash box in a safe in the street-floor office when she heard a command to open the safe. She turned to see a tall man, masked and carrying a gun, with four masked men behind him and a fifth at a door leading to work rooms upstairs.

Louis Caruso, a company foreman, entered the office and one bandit struck him in the ribs twice with a gun and forced him into a side room. Another bandit punched the office boy, John Masi, 20, Newark, breaking his eye glasses.

Philip Cascar, a government inspector at the plant, which has defense orders for uniforms, was forced into the room with Caruso and two girls and three men employees were herded into the office.

When Miss Hymowitz opened the safe, the bandits took an iron box containing the payroll and the petty cash box, which held $250. The payroll, already made up in envelopes for the 525 employees, had arrived at the plant from the main office in Red Bank 15 minutes before the holdup. It came by express.

Each man was armed and masked, police were told. They made their getaway by automobile. Further details in the robbery, which occurred at 11:15 a. m. (E. T.), were not immediately available.

The company is the nation's leading manufacturer of uniforms, with its main factory at Red Bank, and branches in South Amboy, Freehold and Newark.

Trout Fishing Season

Will End August 31

The local trout fishing season will close the last of August and an extension of the season to make up for the time the forests were closed because a fire hazard earlier in the season has been denied by the state officials. Low water had made fishing poor of late and this low condition of the streams is one of the reasons for denying a request to extend the season for a few days.

Local fishermen who have fished the Catskill streams report all streams very low and fear that the low water will affect trout fishing next year unless there is an immediate increase in water. Gilboa reservoir is reported to be practically empty and the Ashokan reservoir is at a low stage.

Attended Funeral

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and Chief of Police Charles Phinney were in Catskill today attending the funeral of John J. Fitzsimmons, widely known volunteer fireman and a former member of the Catskill police force.

County Firemen Meet Outdoors

21 Fire Companies Will Take Part in Woodstock Parade

as the guests of Excelsior Hose Co.

President Cashdollar said that the annual election of officers would be held at the business meeting on Friday evening, September 5, in the Woodstock Playhouse, and that following the business meeting there would be a fine stage show, and that at the close of the show the delegates would be entertained at a turkey dinner.

Some 500 delegates are expected to attend the Friday evening session and as there is no hotel in Woodstock large enough to accommodate that number plans are being made to entertain the delegates at dinner in four different places in the village.

Charles Turner of New Paltz, vice president of the association, is expected to be named president of the county firemen at the annual meeting, and New Paltz selected for the holding of the 1942 convention and parade.

10 Highest on List

Philip Fisher, Sr., chairman of the board of directors, reported that of the 241 volunteer firemen who had taken the closing examinations at the first annual county firemen's training school held in May and June in the Myron J. Michael School here, that 188 had passed the examinations, and would shortly be awarded their certificates from the state education department.

The 10 men who received the highest marks were: Eldrid Smith of Modena, 98 per cent; Andrew Gilday of Wiltwyck Hose, 95.56 per cent; DeVere Smith of Napanoch, 95.15 per cent; Harford Shultis of Central Hooks, 95.15 per cent; Harry Van Bramer of Port Ewen, 94.41 per cent; Philip J. Gillen of Wiltwyck Hose, 93.33 per cent; Carroll Simpson of Phoenixia, 93.01 per cent; Robert Michel of Ellenville, 92.89 per cent; Oakley Maynard of Port Ewen, 91.12 per cent; Philip Maines of Cornell Hose, 90.25 per cent.

Oldest Fireman

The open air meeting last night was attended by Joseph J. Tubby, Sr., of 93 East Chester street, a volunteer fireman of this city for 63 years. He was the oldest fireman in years of service at the meeting. Mr. Tubby became a volunteer fireman in 1878 when he joined the old Franklin Hose which in later years became the present Weiner Hose Company of this city.

David Freer of Pine Grove avenue had installed his loud speaker system on the grounds so that those who attended the meeting had no trouble in hearing all that was said at the meeting.

Before and during the meeting the Excelsior Hose Band played a number of stirring marches.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston was introduced as the first speaker of the evening by Foreman William B. Martin of Excelsior Hose Company.

The fire chief urged that the mutual aid system that had been inaugurated by the county firemen be used. If the plan was to be a success, he said, it must be used. He called attention to the fact that the plan had proven so successful that it was being heard of throughout the state and other communities had taken up the matter with the county organization asking for particulars as to how the plan was operated.

There was no question but that the plan was good, said the fire chief, but to make it work successfully it must be used, and in closing he urged all of the county fire departments to use the plan.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who attended the state firemen's convention earlier in the week with Fire Chief Murphy, was the other speaker of the evening and at the request of the speakers' committee he delivered the same speech he had delivered at the state convention. This address was printed in full earlier in the week in The Freeman.

Refreshments Served

At the close of the meeting last night the delegates were entertained and refreshments served in the Excelsior Hose house across the street from the Reis gas station.

Some 250 volunteer firemen from all sections of Ulster county attended the meeting.

Site Selected

The War Department announced today the selection of a site near Vichy, Missouri, for development as the station of the 124th Observation Squadron, dependent upon satisfactory acquisition of the real estate involved. The approved site comprises approximately 1,300 acres.

Firemen Save Wall Street Property

Freeman Photo

Fast work on the part of the firemen avoided what might have been a serious fire yesterday afternoon when flames started in this large frame Van Eten and Hogan Moving Company garage at 164 Wall street. Firemen may be seen on the ladders as the flames are brought under control with little damage to the barn.

Officials Believe Hogan Barn Fire Started Outside

Fire which police and fire officials believe started on the outside of a large frame barn owned by William S. Hogan of the Van Eten and Hogan trucking firm, at 150 Wall street gutted the second story of the barn late Thursday afternoon and for a time gave the firemen a hard battle. Starting at the rear of the barn in one corner, the flames spread rapidly through the structure and burned away the roof before the blaze was under control.

At the time several large moving trucks which are stored on the premises at night were on the road and Mr. Hogan said his loss was covered by insurance. Moving equipment in the barn was removed by Mr. Hogan as was his automobile which was parked nearby.

A small quantity of personal effects stored on the second floor of the barn was damaged. Blazing embers set fire to a shed on the Westbrook property some distance away but there was slight damage. It was a half hour before the recall signal was sounded. Police Chief Phinney and Fire Chief Murphy were investigating the fire.
